

BIG POLITICAL FIGHT ON TARIFF LOOMS!

FACE ARREST IN FAILURE TO CLEAN UP LOTS

Send More Than 300 Notices
To Property Owners as Official Warning

Property owners of Glendale who fail to comply with the city ordinance relative to cleaning vacant lots covered with weeds and dry grass, after being notified by the city engineer department, will face arrest and fine the same as any person who violates any other city ordinance, declared Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer and superintendent of streets.

"The city engineering department has sent out more than 300 notices to property owners to clean their lots," Mr. Dupuy said. "These notices are sent by registered mail, so we know when the property owner gets the notice. If the lot in question is not cleaned off within ten days after the notice has been received, then more drastic steps will be taken."

Subject to Arrest

"Few people realize there is an ordinance on the city books making it an offense to permit a vacant lot to become overgrown with weeds and dry grass. Violators of this ordinance are subject to arrest and fine upon conviction, just the same as any person who violates traffic ordinances or any other law on the city books."

The fire department will issue permits for the burning of weeds and dry grass without charge, and if the occasion demands it, the fire department will send a man out to supervise the work.

Menace to Homes

"Dry grass and weeds are fire hazards, not only to the property adjoining vacant lots, but to the entire city. Aside from the fire hazards, dry grass and weeds on vacant lots do not improve the looks of the city the least bit."

"The department is not ordering this work done with any idea of collecting a lot of revenue. The only purpose the department and the city has in insisting the weeds and grass be burned and the lots cleared is to remove the fire hazards and to beautify the city."

Receives Fine of $50 For Failing to Clean Lots

George D. Stepper of 421 South Bixel street, Los Angeles, was fined $50 this morning by Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court, after being found guilty yesterday afternoon on a charge of violating Ordinance 466, which regulates the burning off of vacant lots.

On June 30 he was served with a notice by the street department to abate the nuisance of dry weeds on his nine lots on the west side of South Brand boulevard, between Magnolia avenue and Cypress street. When he failed to comply with the terms of this notice, the fire department burned off the lots and a warrant was served on Mr. Stepper. He paid his fine this morning.

Alhambra Man Killed; Police Hunt Slayers

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 22.—A blood-stained club and an abandoned automobile, both found near the battered body, were starting points today in a search for the slayers of Paul Henry Boyce of Alhambra, Cal., who was beaten to death and his body hurled into a water-filled ditch near here. His skull was fractured, jaw broken and left arm fractured. Dr. H. E. Moss, deputy coroner, determined that Boyce had been clubbed to death and not drowned.

Social Lights Battle Country Club Flames

BURLINGAME, Cal., July 22.—Society was out in force when volunteers saved the $700,000 Burlingame Country club from destruction by fire, the men fighting the blaze while the ladies cheered them on.

Woolwine's Condition Continues to Improve

PARIS, July 22.—Thomas Lee Woolwine, former Los Angeles district attorney, who has been seriously ill here, continues to show improvement today, despite a restless night.

Modern Escort Provides Airplane For Lady Fair

Shades of horse and buggy days! The street car and trusty flivver are becoming obsolete! Modern chivalry is up in the air!

Only last Saturday night Miss Marion Gamble of 125 West Los Feliz road was escorted to a beach party at Santa Monica by Ray Wilson in his airplane.

Miss Gamble received an invitation from Miss Martha Meyer of Santa Monica to a Weiner roast on the beach. Mr. Wilson was to be Miss Gamble's escort, so he flew to Glendale airport.

At 6 o'clock he and Miss Gamble took flight for Santa Monica, arriving in fifteen minutes at Clover field. From Clover field to the beach they restored to "the old-fashioned automobile" for transportation and returned to Glendale the same way.

This is Miss Gamble's second flight with Mr. Wilson, and she states that, flying to the beach, they reached an altitude of 8000 feet, and that the plane was put through several stunts before they landed.

Arrested last night on suspicion of stealing automobile accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibson of Illinois made a daring escape from the Hotel Gray at 604-A East Broadway, where they were under guard, by knotting bed sheets together and sliding down from a second-story window.

The room from which they made their escape was No. 22. After having guarded the room all night, an officer from the Glendale police department knocked on the door early this morning and received no answer. His suspicions at once awakened he called on W. E. Mercer, one of the proprietors, and on entering the room with a pass key they found it vacant. The edge of a sheet protruding from an open window told the story.

Hold One Suspect

Fred Payne, another member of the party arrested at the same time, is in headquarters jail, where he spent the night. Lieutenant Nunn is conducting an investigation to recover the suspects. Their car and a complete camping outfit are in the custody of the police department.

One reason assigned by Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department for putting up Mr. and Mrs. Gibson overnight at the Hotel Gray is that Mrs. Gibson was in ill-health. Another is that the department has no adequate quarters for the accommodation of women.

Payne is being held pending further investigation and the possible apprehension of Mr. and Mrs. Gibson.

Argentine Birdman to Attempt World Flight

AMSTERDAM, July 22.—Final arrangements were being made here today for another round-the-world flight. Major Zanna, Argentine flyer, will hop off here Thursday morning at 5 o'clock, moving eastward on practically the same course followed by the American flyers.

The flight will be made in a 450 horse power Fokker plane. Zanna will have but one companion, Engineer Beltrame, another Argentinean. The third member of the crew, Lieutenant Nelson, is ill.

Bankers' Veto Feared For Reparation Plan

LONDON, July 22.—The veto of the bankers of the world apparently rested today on the agreement reached yesterday by the allied conference on the question of sanction and default under the Dawes' plan, the most important consideration before the conference.

Indications were that an effort would be made to meet the objections of the bankers who, because they hold the key to the restoration of Germany in the form of a $200,000,000 loan, must be satisfied before the Dawes' plan can be put into operation.

LAKEPORT, Cal., July 22.—Damage was estimated today at $35,000, as a result of a fire which swept one block of the business district last night.

Sign Gasoline Petition; Quick Action Necessary

Once again The Glendale Evening News urges citizens to sign the supplemental petitions for a proposed constitutional amendment allowing cities of California to share with the counties in the proceeds of the state gasoline tax.

Several hundred additional signatures are needed and as the amendment will benefit Glendale financially with no added burden to the taxpayers, those who have not signed are urged to do so at once.

The object of these petitions is to obtain for the cities a division with the counties, on a per capita basis, of the one-half of the net proceeds of gasoline tax which the counties now get.

A copy of the supplemental petitions have been placed at The Glendale Evening News office, 139 South Brand boulevard, and other copies are located at the City Hall, Automobile club office and elsewhere about the city. They should be signed by Friday, July 25, in order that they may be filed with the Los Angeles county registrar by Saturday, July 26.

Glendale's auto registration would provide a substantial revenue for the city under the amendment and so The Glendale Evening News once more urges citizens to sign the petitions.

RECREATION COMMITTEES FOR SYNOD VISITORS TO SUBMIT REPORTS

Program of Sports Planned
For Church Delegates
By Committees

Recommendations on Bond
Issues Proposed Will Be Filed at Meeting

Recreation will not be lacking at the synods of Arizona and California, to be held at the Glendale Presbyterian church July 24 to 31, according to members of a special committee in charge of recreations. Members of this committee are Rev. C. A. Spaulding, Rev. Earl P. Cochran and Rev. Paul C. Elliott.

The synod sessions will open Thursday night at the church, but the synod will be preceded Thursday morning and afternoon by a pre-synodical conference and a meeting of the Federated Women's Aid society of the Los Angeles Presbytery.

Open to Public

All sessions of the Presbyterian synod, to be held in Glendale July 24 to 31, are open to the general public. Rev. Walter E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church and general chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced today.

"Many persons in Glendale are under the impression the sessions will be closed," Mr. Edmonds said, "but the public is invited to attend all conference classes, synod sessions in the morning, vespers services at 7 p. m. each day of the synod, and the night meetings."

Sports Are Planned Delegates from All Parts of California, Arizona and Nevada Expected to Attend the Sessions

Delegates from all parts of California, Arizona and Nevada are expected to attend the sessions, and many prominent churchmen and laymen from New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and many other eastern points will be present. More than 1,000 delegates will be in attendance.

On Friday afternoon there will be tennis, golf and baseball. Teams representing the synod of California and the synod of Arizona will clash on the diamond. Tennis tournaments will be staged on the hard courts at the school. The golf tournaments will be on various courses surrounding the city.

FRANKS' SLAYERS WILL TAKE STAND

Leopold and Loeb to Tell Stories In Effort to Assist Defense

CHICAGO, July 22.—Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of 13-year-old Robert T. Franks, as well as Jacob Franks, the aged father of the little boy, will tell their stories to the court when the two youths go to trial before Judge Caverly of the Cook county criminal court.

State's Attorney Crowe announced today he would summon the bereaved parent and almost at the same moment Attorney Benjamin Bachrach, of defense counsel, said he would call upon his clients.

Not only will young Leopold and Loeb take the witness stand, according to the attorney, but their parents will be asked to contribute their knowledge of the battle that will be waged to prove to the satisfaction of the court that the boys are not mentally responsible.

Mr. Bachrach asserted the belief that Judge Caverly will want to hear the boys themselves and not their parents. But if he does not make the request, they will be called to the stand by defense counsel in the belief that the fighting front will be strengthened.

Fear Huge Death Toll In Flood-Swept Korea

TOKIO, July 22.—Deaths in Korea, where the entire western coast is threatened with flood, will probably reach hundreds, reports said today. It has been raining steadily for four days. In Seoul 40 homes collapsed and 600 are under water. Traffic on the Western Korea railway is interrupted and the Seisho railway station is under water.

Director Of Democrats This is a picture of FRANK L. POLK of New York, chosen by John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for the presidency of the United States, as director of the campaign. Mr. Polk was the last of several men to hold the office of secretary of state in the Woodrow Wilson cabinet. He is a close friend of the nominee.

Final reports by the members of three sub-committees of the Citizens' Bond committee will be read at the meeting of the organization to be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Harvard High school auditorium, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. Frank Weller, secretary.

The sub-committee making the final reports, and the members of the committees are:

Bridges over Verdugo wash, O. M. Newby, chairman; Rev. E. E. Ford and I. J. Hoover.

Wait Improvements

Enlarging water system and supply, Charles Marshall, chairman; William B. Pelley and W. H. Richards.

Acquisition of city parks, L. H. Wilson, chairman; R. Streit and Dr. E. H. Parker.

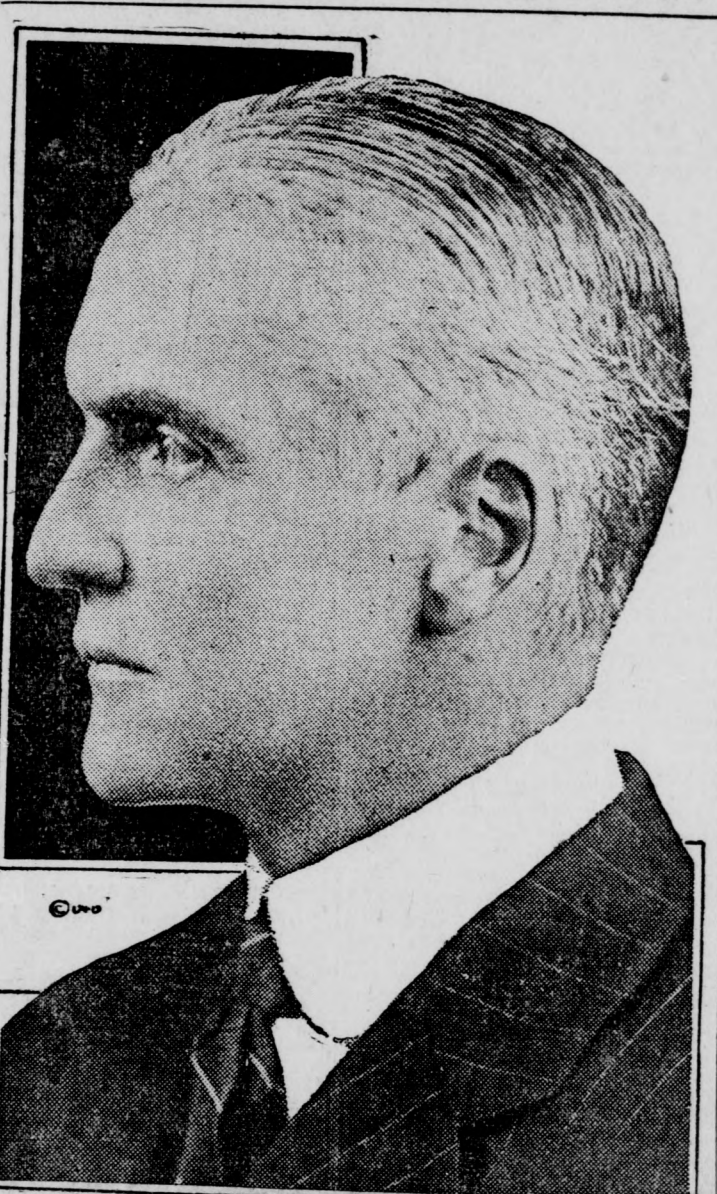

The sub-committee on bridges over Verdugo wash, through the chairman, Mr. Newby, reported at the meeting held last Wednesday at the Harvard High school auditorium. At that time the sub-committee suggested that the matter of bridges over the wash be held in abeyance until the question of permanent improvements to the wash had been decided.

May Favor Bonds

Mr. Marshall, speaking for the subcommittee on enlarging the water system and supply, said last week that the committee had been working on this project for some time, and asked another week, as it was too large a matter to dispose of in a short time. It is expected the committee will recommend a bond issue of at least $700,000 for improving the city's water system.

Discussion of the reports made at the last meeting will be taken up tomorrow morning, since the members of the committee voted to lay over all final reports for a week before acting on them as a committee of the whole.

D. H. Smith, general chairman, will preside at the meeting, and Mrs. Frank Weller, secretary, will officiate in that capacity. City Manager V. B. Stone will not attend the meeting, as he is on a vacation trip.

Coolidge Ready to Battle Foes With Their Own Weapons

WASHINGTON, July 22.—William Morgan Butler, chairman of the Republican National committee, and personal manager of President Coolidge's campaign, today served notice on the Democratic party and the La Follette organization that the Republican nominee was prepared, if necessary, to make the coming campaign one of "personalities."

President Coolidge, Butler declared, is ready to conduct his fight for continuance in office along any lines or with any weapons his opponents may choose.

SCORES INJURED AS BOATS CRASH

NEW YORK, July 22.—Saved from a watery grave, the passengers and crew of the Eastern Steamship company's steamer Boston, which was rammed by the oil tanker Swift Arrow late last night in a fog two and a half miles southeast of Point Judith, R. I., are being brought to New York aboard the Fall River liner Priscilla.

The passengers and crew, believed to number more than 1,000, were lowered in life boats from the Boston, but because of dense fog it had not been ascertained whether all had been picked up. The water was calm, however, and it is not believed any passengers lost their lives, although early wireless reports said four passengers had been killed.

Scores of passengers were reported injured in the collision, however, the extent of their injuries not being stated.

The following radio was received from the steamer Priscilla when asked if the latter had picked up all aboard the Boston: "No, not all of them," and added that seventy of those picked up were seriously injured.

DAVIS PLANS BATTLE ON 'BROADER THEORY'

Challenge Republican
Leaders In Debate
Democratic Candidate to

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, July 22.—John W. Davis is to introduce an entirely new tariff note in the coming presidential campaign. He will lead the Democrats in a broader stand on this subject than they have ever taken before. It was extremely gratifying to Mr. Davis to find after his nomination that the platform adopted in Madison Square Garden coincided very largely with his own views.

Mr. Davis long has believed in what he calls a "compromise tariff." To his mind, the proper tariff for the American producer is one that will permit him to compete on a fair basis with foreign production where labor costs are cheaper because living standards are lower.

Believes Theory Sound

This is a far cry from the "free trade" label which once was attached to all Democrats, but it is in line with what Mr. Davis believes to be sound economic theories. It also meets the Democratic viewpoint from solidly conservative Americans who look forward to a tariff that should be reckoned on a scientific rather than a political basis. The South now has many interests that require a tariff to keep them on a fair competitive basis with Europe and other sections of the world.

Although the Democrats will continue to assail the Republican policy of "protection," their tariff declarations do not leave the two old parties in theory so very far apart. There is no doubt but that the business interests of the country have hailed the new Democratic views with a great deal of satisfaction. Democratic victories in the past have been looked forward to as upsetting to domestic industry built up on a fairly high tariff foundation. The new Democratic theory that production shall be guarded on a fair competitive basis removes one of the bugaboes of the old campaign.

For "Fair Revenue"

Under Democratic rule, tariff no longer would be levied for "revenue only," but would be fixed on a basis of "fair revenue" for the government and the assurance of proper competitive standards for American production. The idea of a competitive tariff is not entirely a new one. Prominent Democrats among them John T. Barrett, of Colorado, who comes from a sugar-producing state, have for some time been advocating the competitive idea as a means of meeting Republican protectionism, which, for so long has had such a strong appeal in both industrial and agricultural sections. Mr. Barrett has argued with his brother Democrats that a competitive tariff is in line with Democratic policies through all the ages of American history. The word competition has a popular ring to it. The word "protection" carries with it, on the other hand, the Democrats say, the idea of coddling and pricing beyond the lines of reason. They will

U. S. and Belgium Combine
To Point Conference to Road to Success

LONDON, July 22.—America and Belgium stood shoulder to shoulder this afternoon in an effort to bring the allied conference on the Dawes plan back to the road of success by meeting objections of international bankers to the agreement reached on the question of sanctions and default.

Frank B. Kellogg, American ambassador to England, and Premier Theunis of Belgium offered the proposal that the reparations commission, which would declare Germany in default, consult the bankers before taking such a step which the banker group holds would jeopardize the $200,000,000 loan it proposes to raise largely in the United States.

Under Democratic rule, tariff no longer would be levied for "revenue only," but would be fixed on a basis of "fair revenue" for the government and the assurance of proper competitive standards for American production. The idea of a competitive tariff is not entirely a new one. Prominent Democrats among them John T. BUSINESS BLOCK PLANS APPROVED

Two Brick Buildings to Be Erected by Eagle Rock
Contractor

EAGLE ROCK, July 22.—Plans have been approved by O. Phillips of the local building department for two new business blocks. One is a two-story brick store and office building, to go up on East Colorado boulevard, two doors east of Caspar avenue, to be owned by W. L. Miller. The other is a brick garage, to be erected at Verdugo road and Glassell avenue.

"Dollar Days" are coming to Eagle Rock. Determined to urge local residents to buy at home through offering them tempting arrays of bargains that they cannot overlook, local merchants have decided upon a series of "Dollar Days" the first to be held on August 1st and 2nd. Preliminary to these days, and on them, Eagle Rock will see what merchants say will be one of the biggest advertising campaigns ever carried on here.

Brothers Reunited
E. J. Curtis, of 4982 So. Royal Drive, was happily surprised when his brother, C. F. Curtis, of Australia, whom he has not seen for forty-two years, dropped in for a visit last week. C. F. Curtis is in California on a combined business and vacation trip. While here he is also taking steps to put out a patent that has been accepted by England, Belgium, France and the United States. He has other relatives here, among them Mrs. E. W. Swanson of 1474 Holbrook street, Eagle Rock, Miss Mary Miller, both his nieces, Richard and Ernest Curtis, of Eagle Rock, and Norman Swanson, his nephews. Mr. Curtis is well known as a wealthy business man in Australia, and has interests now being carried on in London that occupy most of his time. He has six months' leave of absence from his business duties for his present trip.

L. V. Stockwell, local realtor, and family, accompanied by his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beattie of Huntington Park, have left for an extended trip through the desert to Bishop and surrounding territory. They will spend much time fishing at June Lake and vicinity.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, July 22.—Deputy Fire Warden Leo L. Lang has returned from a fire-fighting expedition into Pine canyon in the Elizabeth Lake district and reports that the fires there have all been extinguished after much hard work by a crew of 200 men. Many of the men were exhausted by their efforts to keep the fire from spreading.

Miss Beal of the Tujunga Emergency hospital has returned to Tujunga after an absence of six months in Palo Alto, where she was called by the sudden illness of her sister, who has improved to such an extent that Miss Beal could return to her home.

Mrs. A. D. Wade, who was recently taken suddenly ill, is recovering and has been with her son in Hollywood.

Mrs. D. W. Wright spent a few days with her daughter at San Jacinto.

Ernest W. Anthony, former resident of Tujunga, was recently married to Miss Leone Cox of San Francisco.

Mrs. T. Rice is building a home in the Gem of Tujunga tract.

Miss Cora Covard is building a house in the Glen Alden tract.

Mrs. Mabel Best of Long Beach has been visiting Mrs. Leo H. Smith of Tujunga.

SPAN BIG BEAR DAM
SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—A bridge to span the dam at Big Bear Lake, connecting the Deep Creek cutoff with the south shore resorts has been started with Guy McMurtry, engineer of the federal bureau of roads, in charge of the work. Frank Bryan of San Francisco is the contractor of this 350-foot structure, which will have a twenty-one-foot roadway.

STUDY EARTH FAULT
SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—Study of the San Andreas fault in this vicinity is being conducted by H. J. Huff and sixteen assistants from the United States geological survey, who are camped here this week. Their field of research will be from Ontario east to Barstow and Banning. The government is going after all available data on earthquakes with a view of setting at rest ungrounded fears of slight earth tremors in the southland.

ORDER POWER SAVING
COLTON, July 22.—Mayor Walter Evans has received word from H. G. Butler, state power czar, that this city is not conserving sufficient electricity. He fears it may be necessary to "pull the switches" on certain sections of town in order to make the necessary savings. Riverside and its mayor, S. C. Evans, have received similar notice.

WOMAN SEEKS ELECTION
REDLANDS, July 22.—Another woman aspires to the legislature of the state of California. Mrs. J. J. Sness of this city would succeed J. J. Prendergast of San Bernardino, who has announced that he will not be a candidate. Mrs. Sness is the wife of a former mayor and well known in civic circles.

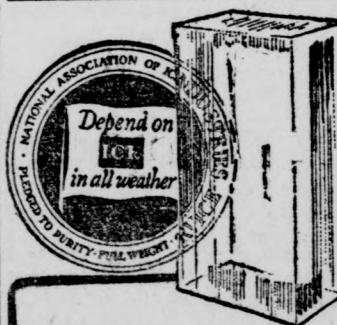

FIND LOST PAINTINGS
SANTA ANA, July 22.—The mystery of the missing pictures shipped from Laguna Beach to this city several weeks ago has been solved. They were found at St. Ann's parish house instead of St. Ann's Inn. The woman who signed for them was not aware of the content of the precious parcels delivered by an express man, it is said. The value of the paintings was $6000.

DRIVE CAMPERS BACK
LAGUNA BEACH, July 22.—Campers on the beach here have been forced to find higher ground for their tents. It is reported as the breakers have been rolling high. Two girls were rescued from the surf Sunday.

ARGUE DEFENSE PLANS
ANAHEIM, July 22.—The meeting of the Kiwanis club here this noon was surcharged with oratory as the result of the hasty passage of a resolution last week at the behest of Rev. J. A. Geissinger, pastor of the White Temple Methodist church. The text protested National Defense day, which has been set for September 12, and the American Legion accepted the challenge in bringing before the public the necessity for preparedness.

BOULDER STARTS FIRE
SANTA BARBARA, July 22.—Broken bits of glass are the principal cause of fires in forest reserves, careless campers and tourists who leave their fires burning or toss burning tobacco into the brush are also blamed, but the latest reason advanced for a blaze in this vicinity is a half-ton boulder. Striking other rocks when it plunged down the hillside from San Marcos Pass where road workers had pried it loose, the boulder caused sparks which set fire to the dry grass and soon presented a fire which burned over twenty-one acres before controlled.

BOGGED HORSE IS SHOT
SANTA BARBARA, July 22.—A horse fell victim to a "pitch mire" on the Southern Pacific property near the gas plant here, it having to be shot by humane officers. City Manager Herbert Nunn has ordered a fence built around the sump hole before some child gets into it.

DOUBLE SHOWING OF CLEVER PLAY

'Surprises' to Be Presented
By Cast of Sixty In
Burbank School

BURBANK, July 22.—Tomorrow night at the Thomas A. Edison school the community play "Surprises" will offer the people of this city a play with a cast of sixty local people. The production will be staged again on Wednesday night, the curtain rising each night at 8:45 o'clock. The American beauty scene promises to be one of the artistic hits of the production, with Mrs. Homer Jones as the American Beauty and the following Burbank girls as models in Burbank's rose garden—Misses Madelyn Viney, Kathryn Koonz, Emily Bossuet, Verla Whartman, Pauline Bossuet, Mildred Hanawalt, Ethel Wilson, Evelyn Wayne, Rachael Jones, Edith Jones, Jacqueline McDonald, Irene Cobb, Florence La Pask and Mrs. Roy Campbell. Century Plant Nears Time to Bloom Again

SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—Expectancy reigns in the vicinity of Second and E streets this week. The century plant growing there is about to bloom. J. B. Gill, president of the San Bernardino National Bank, reports the plant has grown more than ten feet in the last few days which is an indication it is ready to blossom forth this season.

was for us to steal watermelons when you and I were boys, and it is apparently no greater offense in the eyes of the boys of today to steal an automobile than was the stealing of a watermelon in the eyes of the boys of yesterday."

The foregoing, in substance, was one of the outstanding declarations made by Judge Harry Archbald, of the juvenile court in Los Angeles in an interesting address delivered before the Burbank Kiwanis club at their last regular luncheon at the Sunset Canyon club. E. B. Lindesmith of South La media avenue, has left for Chicago and other eastern points, where he will spend six weeks, visiting relatives and old-time friends.

Rubber Ball Is Clue To Child's Murderer

NEW YORK, July 22.—A rubber ball found in the pocket of Zonas Wade, alias Smith, held in Newark, N. J., was positively identified by Mrs. Albert McDonnell, Port Richmond, Staten Island, as belonging to her son, Francis, 7, brutally strangled to death in a field near his home. The identification of the ball, which was taken to Staten Island by detectives checking up on the story told by Wade, is the first important clue that has come to light since the murder, according to police.

Scientists to Study Bird Life In Sierras

Professor Alfred Cookman of 336 West Pioneer drive, accompanied by Dr. H. J. Andrews of Hollywood, expect to leave August 3, for the High Sierras, to the volcanic creek region, across the Mojave, for the purpose of studying bird life. They are compiling data for a book which they are writing on bird life. They will spend ten or fourteen days in the north and will return home via the Big Trees, where they will spend a few days.

LANKFORD TALKS ON FIRE HAZARD

Campaign of Carefulness Is Urged by Chief In
Talk to Elks

Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department addressed the members of the local Elks' club last night, in his capacity as deputy California fire marshal, urging that a "campaign of carefulness" be launched in this city against forest fires.

That is one of a series of talks Chief Lankford is giving in Glendale, at the request of the United States government, which has asked all state deputy marshals to help in the campaign to prevent the spread of fires in the timber lands.

Already this year there have been over 700 forest fires in California, he declared, three times as many as in any similar period. These fires have cost over 100,000 acres of burned area, four times the acreage ever before burned within the state in a single season.

Watersheds Ruined
Not only have millions of dollars worth of timber gone up in smoke, Chief Lankford told his audience, but vital watersheds have been seriously damaged and the flood hazard greatly increased. The plan is to get sufficient funds to properly fight the fires, he said.

The United States government has offered aid and stands ready with money and men, the minute Governor Friend W. Richardson feels federal aid is needed, he declared. Meanwhile the forests of the state are in grave danger, and the dry season still has three months to run.

On Friday night, July 25, Chief Lankford will address the local American Legion post on the same subject. Meanwhile Joseph V. Griffin of the Glendale fire department is addressing theatre audiences, urging on them the campaign of carefulness. Last night he talked before the audiences of the Glendale and the T. D. & L. theatres.

Indiana Society to Hold Annual Picnic

The annual basket picnic of the Indiana state society will be held all day Saturday, July 26, at Sycamore Grove, Pasadena avenue and Avenue 45, Los Angeles, to which all Hoosiers and friends are invited. A short program will be given at 2:30 o'clock, with the president, Judge Wm. D. McConnell, as principal speaker. County registers will be a special feature to enable old friends to find each other under the spreading sycamore trees, and games and music will be played throughout the day. Visitors are asked to bring lunches and cups as nothing but coffee will be served on the grounds.

Glendale Untouched By Commission's Orders To Conserve Water Supply

General orders issued by the State Railroad commission for conservation of water in Los Angeles and Orange counties do not affect Glendale, being applicable only to public utility corporations, according to Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production.

Being a municipal corporation, Glendale is responsible only to itself as to how much water it shall use, he states. While water should not be wasted, there is plenty for every use, including sprinkling of lawns, gardens, trees and shrubs, and for all irrigation purposes within the city limits.

Power Is Conserved
Concerning the conservation of light, Mr. Diederich states that Glendale consumers are continuing to keep within the bounds of the 25 per cent reduction ordered by the Southern California Edison company. Here, as in the case of water conservation, the city of Glendale is not directly subject to the orders of the Railroad Commission and of H. G. Butler, power supervisor. The Edison company is, however, subject to these orders and Glendale is thus subject to them indirectly.

"In general, while there have been some inconveniences and possibly some slight financial losses suffered, the consumers of electricity in Glendale have not suffered by the 25 per cent cut," says Mr. Diederich. "I appreciate the cooperation that has been lent all along the line to make the cut effective, and I wish to commend those consumers who have installed auxiliary plants in order to meet increased business without exceeding their quotas."

Lesson of Drought
As regards new business, we are taking applications and considering each case on its own merits, subject to the supervisor's instructions. Our aim is to make the burden of the shortage rest as lightly as possible on Glendale consumers and to allow the prosperity and growth of the city to continue uninterrupted.

"The drought condition we have experienced this summer has, however, taught us a lesson we are not likely to forget. The future development and prosperity of Southern California depends on water. Such a project as the Boulder Canyon dam, which aims to bring to Southern California 1500 second feet of water—four times the 400 second feet of the Los Angeles aqueduct—must, therefore, command the attention of thinking men and women."

Support for Bill
The Boulder Canyon association, which met last Saturday in Long Beach and discussed many angles of the water shortage, has gone on record as favoring a campaign in every city of the Southwest, to gain favorable legislation in Washington this fall. This organization has been in existence for practically five years and the problem is now more acute than ever.

"Either Southern California must have a larger and surer water supply, or it must cease to grow. The Boulder Canyon dam project will supply water sufficient for 7,500,000 people, or more than there are at present in the entire state. It is the practical, scientific solution to a problem that has become so acute it threatens the very foundations of prosperity in Southern California."

ASKS COMMISSION TO RE-NAME ROAD

Petitioners Want Sycamore
Canyon Route Changed
To Chevy Chase

Discussion of the proposal to change the name of Sycamore Canyon Drive to Chevy Chase Drive occupied the City Planning commission at its meeting last night at the City Hall, Chairman T. W. Watson, presiding.

Bert Farrar of Chevy Chase Estates, and others in favor of the proposed change were present and spoke before the commission. John R. Powers of the Glen Oaks Syndicate was present and urged that if Sycamore Canyon Drive is to be renamed it should be called Glen Oaks Boulevard.

The commission took these proposals under advisement. A number of maps were approved, after which the meeting adjourned. There were present all of the members except Harry Hague, who is out of the city.

OUR CONSTITUTION

It is a hopeful sign that so many people today are talking about and studying the Constitution of the United States. It is a marvelous document, and a mere reading of it is sufficient to inspire the thought that the framers must have had divine guidance in their recognition of the people as the source of power—almost a new thought at that time—their wise distribution of the functions of government into legislative, judicial and executive departments and their provision for amendments as safety valves.

If at various times decisions have been rendered declaring unconstitutional, laws that seemed for the best interests of the people, the fault was not in the Constitution but in the interpretation, for the founders proved their desire to make the document applicable and workable under all conditions and for all times by providing for amendments. Our forefathers had no knowledge of the problems of the nation in its multiform and multiplex aspects as we know it today, but they left a loophole so that each generation could work these things out according to the necessities of the times.

H. G. Wells in his Outline of History speaks as if the American Constitution had served its time. He says:

"A time may come when people will regard the contrivances and machinery of the American Constitution as the political equivalents of the implements and contrivances of Neolithic man. They have served their purpose well, and under their protection the people of the States have grown into one of the greatest, most powerful, and most civilized communities that the world has yet seen; but there is no reason in that for regarding the American Constitution as a thing more final and unalterable than the pattern of street railway that overshadows many New York thoroughfares, or the excellent and homely type of architecture that still prevails in Philadelphia. These things also have served a purpose well, they have their faults, and they can be improved. Our political contrivances, just as our domestic and mechanical contrivances, need to undergo constant revision as knowledge and understanding grow."

"Since the American Constitution was planned, our conception of history and our knowledge of collective psychology have undergone very considerable development. We are beginning to see many things in the problem of government to which men of the eighteenth century were blind; and courageous as their constructive disposition was in relation to whatever political creation had gone before, it fell far short of the boldness which we in these days realize to be needful if this great human problem of establishing a civilized community of will in the earth is to be solved. They took many things for granted that now we know need to be made the subject of the most exacting scientific study and the most careful adjustment."

It may be that this country will, some day, outgrow the constitution. Strange things are happening to governments, but this great document will answer the purpose for a good many years to come, perhaps for all time. Some great leader or leaders may be able to frame a general, organic law that will be worthy to replace our Constitution, but it is pretty safe to predict that we nor H. G. Wells will live to see that day.

Mr. Wells' illustrious countryman, William E. Gladstone, said: "The American Constitution is, so far as I can see, the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man." Our Constitution has made us a great nation, and if it is held inviolate will make us greater still. Read the Constitution. It will give you greater love and respect for your country.

WORKING FOR PEACE

Bishop Adna W. Leonard of the Methodist church flays that element in his church that advocates extreme pacifism and non-resistance and calls them traitors to their country and to their church. He says a country menaced by invasion should defend itself, and this defense should be supported by the country at large and the church to the utmost. The Bishop is one minister, he says, who will fight for his country after every other minister of his church has refused.

Bishop Leonard, like most good citizens, believes in making every possible effort to bring about permanent international peace, and he approves the move made by the general conference of the Methodist church in which a committee on International Peace and Good Will was appointed to lead the way.

There are any number of organizations and individuals who are giving of their best to formulate plans for abolishing war and who have the matter of the peace of the world very much at heart. But when any great number of our people come to the point where they pledge themselves not to fight under any circumstances and agree not to resist invasion of their country they are inviting disaster. If the people of every nation would take the pledge of non-resistance then war would be no more, but cupidity and the desire for wealth and conquest are not dead in the hearts of nations any more than in the hearts of men, and there is more than one country that would be tempted to invade the United States if it were sure there would be no resistance. Men should pledge themselves not to countenance or participate in a war of conquest or aggression, but should danger threaten the country every man and woman, every dollar and every resource of the country should be available for defense, and if this were known to be the case it would be a very powerful nation that would dare take up arms against us.

Defense of our country, after all, means no more or less than defense of our homes, and any real man would fight for his home.

As Bishop Leonard stated, there are other and surer ways of working for peace than pledging ourselves to pacifism and non-resistance.

Large industrial concerns have learned that conserving the health of the employee is a highly profitable investment. Municipal governments will eventually learn that conserving the health of the citizenship is a most profitable form of government.

TAINT' FAIR

Significance of Backs

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There has been entirely too much attention paid to the face.

After all, the face is a small portion of the human charm. And there is no reason why one who happens to be defective in this one little respect and abound in other beauties—such, for instance, as trimly feet or a Katisha shoulder-blade—should be out of the running.

And so to the truth, as Talleyrand or somebody else said, that words were used to conceal thoughts, we might with equal justice add that faces are trained in hypocrisy.

Most of us have entire control of our facial features. We can smile when we wish to snarl. We can look modestly down when we are full of pride, and women have been known to weep for a purpose.

But you cannot do that sort of thing with your back. Backs are backs.

The character of people is quite often determined by their resemblance to lower animals. And herein it is our backs that betray us. This truth has even entered into our language. We speak of a gentleman having his back up.

by which we mean he resembles an angry cat. Independence, courage and all such militancy are just better indicated by stiffening one's back than by any sort of motion that can be made with the mouth or the nose.

And the most eloquent gesture of humility is the bending of the back. When we wish to do homage to the duchess we curve our spines and kiss her finger tips. When we approach his majesty we bend our backs.

If humility is the crowning virtue of the wise, then surely, the back, which best expresses this, is a most glorious instrument. It is the back that is really the class symbol. For is it not the burden-bearer of the world, alias the proletariat, whose backs are bent by the fat and pampered bourgeoisie who sit upon them?

And, then, there is another thing. Have you not often had a back view of a woman walking along the street and almost fallen in love with her, only to have your dream shattered when she turned around? And, we ask, is this fair to the woman?

Horoscope

At last astrologers foresee a truly lucky day. They find that in this configuration Jupiter, Mercury and Neptune are all friendly. Uranus is adverse late in the evening.

Business and professional matters are subject to influences stimulating and making for profit. This is a time to push all sorts of enterprises, especially those involving real initiative.

Merchants and manufacturers should benefit and they should find bankers less adamant than in recent weeks.

New projects of international importance are prognosticated and they will become sources of international complications as well as personal profit.

The signing of agreements or contracts of any sort is held fortunate while this planetary government prevails.

Land leases have an especially good direction of the stars today and there is an aspect promising to novel colonization schemes.

Judgment should be keen and mind well balanced while Neptune is in this day's aspect which makes for clear thinking and wise reasoning.

Profit for the oil industry again is foretold, but the seers predict many fluctuations in stocks. This should be fortunate time for starting on an ocean voyage, but great crowds are foreseen as moving back and forth between the United States and Europe.

The next race problem to be presented to the government of this country probably will have something to do with India, it is prognosticated.

All the signs indicate plots and intrigues in which religious prejudice is strong and peril is foreseen by occultists in a return to ancient intolerance.

Persons whose birth date it is have the augury of a happy year in which money and opportunity will be satisfactory.

Children born on this day probably will be quick, keen and exceedingly well balanced. These subjects of Leo usually rise rapidly in life and enjoy all the good things that come with success.

Passenger automobiles made in Great Britain last year totaled 64,000, which was 60 per cent of those purchased in that country and an increase of 24,000 over the number produced in 1922.

Today's Poem

WHEN WILL LOVE COME?
Some find Love late, some find him soon,
Some with the rose in May,
Some with the nightingale in June;
And some when skies are grey;
Love comes to some with smiling eyes,
And comes with tears to some;
For some Love sings, for some Love sighs,
For some Love's lips are dumb.

How will you come to me, fair Love?
Will you come late or soon?
With sad or smiling skies above,
By light of sun or moon?
Will you be sad, will you be sweet,
Sing, sigh, Love, or be dumb?

Will it be summer when we meet,
Or autumn ere you come?
—Pakenham Beatty.

Smiles

HE FILES OBJECTION.
The farmer decided to give special attention to the development of his poultry yard, and he undertook the work carefully and systematically. His hired man, who had been with him for a number of years, was instructed, among other things, to write on each egg the date laid and the breed of the hen. After a month, the hired man resigned.

"I can't understand," the farmer declared, surprised and pained, "why you should want to leave."

"I'm through," the hired man asserted. "I've done the nastiest jobs, an' never kicked. But I draw the line on bein' secretary to a bunch o' hens."

PAYING A DEBT.
"You put a counterfeit bill in the plate this morning," said the deacon. "I wonder if you realized it."

"Sure I did," answered the church goer. "I owe the heathens a grudge for eating a missionary uncle of mine."

A FATAL ERROR.
Judge—"Madam, have you anything to say?"

Prisoner's Husband—"Good heavens, Judge! Now you've done it."

Who's Who

The appointment of Representative John M. Nelson by Senator Robert La Follette to lead his campaign to the presidential race, was not unexpected in political circles. Nelson, representing his district in Congress, has been leader of the progressives in the lower house.

He is a native of Wisconsin, having been born in Burke, Dane county, that state, on October 10, 1870. He obtained his A. B. degree at the University of Wisconsin and took a post-graduate course there. He served as superintendent of the Dane county schools for two years and then hung out his shingle as a lawyer.

He was a member of the Republican state central committee from 1901 to 1905. The following year he was sent to Congress for the first time, to fill the unexpired term of H. C. Adams. He served in the lower house continuously until the sixty-sixth congress. Then, after a lapse of one term, was returned to his seat.

He has been a strong supporter and close friend of La Follette for many years.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

I believe the Scriptures somewhere tell us to "take no thought for the morrow," "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," and so on. Well, I know a good many people who interpret these passages literally and observe them religiously, but who are not so careful to obey other Biblical injunctions.

I cannot understand the reasoning of a man who spends every cent of his salary as soon as he gets it and sometimes before it is earned. I know it is often hard for a man with a family to "break even," but it seems to me if I were in that position I would deprive myself of everything not absolutely essential in order to lay by something for a rainy day or to buy a little life insurance.

But it is not these men who spend their money for necessities for their families to whom I refer. It is those who have no obligations and no dependents and yet who never think to make any provision for the future or for their old age. An unmarried man of my acquaintance who is a skilled workman and draws a good salary lost his job a month ago. He left the shop absolutely broke. But he was soon back borrowing money of men who were getting the same pay as he and supporting families.

Worrying about the future is useless and foolish. But there is one thing we will all have to face if we live long enough and that is old age and the thought of being dependent in my old age fills me with horror.

When I see young fellows wasting their substance in riotous living or merely letting their wages slip through their fingers I often wonder if they ever think of the future and what it holds for them. All too many of them have for their motto, "Let the morrow take care of itself."

The miser is a contemptible person, but there is a happy medium between him and the spendthrift. Money is no good in itself and it is only as we spend it that it becomes useful. However, we can exercise wisdom in the spending of it and save judiciously. Spending money carelessly leads to carelessness in other matters, too. It leads to borrowing, gambling and even stealing. The fellow who never gets ahead usually gets behind, and is always in debt to someone.

The way young people are spending today it looks to me it would be the part of wisdom to provide additional poor-houses, for they will surely be needed. But the young man can't be made to see the results of wastefulness and shiftlessness. Providence will intervene in his case, someone will leave him a fortune, he will be provided for in some way. And so he keeps on spending.

INVITE WOMEN TO ATTEND SESSIONS

Federated Aid Societies to Meet During Synod's Conference Here

Glendale women of all denominations are invited to attend the sessions for the Federated Aid Societies of the Los Angeles Presbytery that will be held Thursday at the Glendale Presbyterian church as part of the synodical meetings to be in progress at the church the latter part of the week.

Mrs. J. M. Eyerick, president of the women's organization of the church, will give greetings at the session opening at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. There will be various kinds of reports and other routine business. Speakers will be Dr. Andrew Beattie, superintendent of the Presbyterian orphanage at San Anselmo, who will tell of his work; Mrs. Lucy Tanner of Los Angeles, whose subject will be "Business Women's Luncheons," and Mrs. Robert Freeman of Pasadena, who will speak on "The Synodical Plan of Organization."

After the noon luncheon Miss Winifred Rouse will have charge of the devotionary hour. Later the speakers will be Miss Bertha Oliver on "Household Budgeting"; Miss Antoinette Sabel of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on "The Spiritual Value of Music to the Community," and Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church of Chicago.

Auto Vacation Leads Across Mexican Border

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wagon and son and daughter, Jack, Jr., and Luella, of 529 North Jackson St., and Mr. Wagon's mother, Mrs. L. A. Wagon, arrived home Sunday from a week's motor trip south to San Diego and nearby points of interest. They were entertained by friends in Coronado and took a pleasure trip into Mexico.

Previous to this southern trip Mr. Wagon took a motor trip north with Robert Ritchie and Mr. Allen of Los Angeles. On this trip they visited Fresno, Oakland, San Francisco, Yosemite Valley and the Big Trees. On both trips Mr. Wagon drove 2200 miles in his Willys-Knight. They report that they found no city more prosperous than Glendale and every stop they made they took occasion to tell of Glendale's continued growth and success.

LEADERS TO WAGE DIGNIFIED FIGHT

Coolidge and Davis Working On Speeches Accepting
Nominations

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, July 22.—John W. Davis, candidate of the Democratic party for the presidency, has gone to the wilds of Maine, where he not only will get a good rest before plunging into the campaign, but where he believes he can also get a better perspective on the situation which confronts him.

He may remain in seclusion for two weeks or more, for now that the notification ceremonies at Clarksburg have been fixed for August 11, there will be no need for him to hurry back to town.

The Democrats feel they have made a rather shrewd move in having their notification just three days before the Republican ceremony at Washington. At first it was proposed the Democratic function should be held about August 1. Then came the announcement of the Republican date and the Democrats desired to delay their ceremony accordingly. It has been announced that President Coolidge would reply to the Democratic "keynote" to be uttered by Mr. Davis. If the Democrats had adhered to their first plans the president would have had a full fortnight to consider and frame his reply. As matters stand now, he will either have to defer the preparation of his speech until three days before its delivery or else go ahead without any reference to the position to be taken by the Democratic candidate.

On High Plane

Most of those who know Mr. Coolidge well believe he will choose the latter course so the two leading opponents in the campaign are expected to be at work simultaneously upon their addresses of acceptance.

Both addresses are likely to be pitched upon a high plane. There will be no personalities in the coming fight, so far as the principal figures are concerned. Mr. Coolidge is not that type of man. Neither is the Democratic standard bearer. The personality of each man is expected to have a distinct bearing upon the result, but there is a vast difference between personality and personalities.

The speeches of acceptance will be amplifications of the party platform. Mr. Coolidge's views are fairly well known. Therefore the greater public interest is likely to center in the Davis address. The country is looking to him for a clean-cut expression of just where he stands on many public issues.

Coolidge's Course

President Coolidge will have a number of difficult obstacles to skirt in his address just as the Republican platform makers at Cleveland had to step rather lightly in turning some of the sharp corners. Mr. Coolidge will have the same difficulties that the platform makers had in dealing with the record of the last congress, the leaders of which did so much to thwart the executive program. The general impression seems to be that Mr. Coolidge will appeal to the country to give him a congress with which he can work. It is possible, of course, for the Republicans to get a working majority in the house for all the members of that body must come up for re-election in November. But the case of the senate seems hopeless. It will take years to get some of the recalcitrants out of that body, if ever it is rid of them.

Just here Mr. Davis is expected to make a most telling attack upon the Republican record. He will attempt to show that President Coolidge was either unable or unwilling to force his will upon congress and that legislation was possible only through Democratic and Progressive channels. He will argue that if the Democrats are given control of congress as well as the presidency, the country may look for cohesion at Washington and a general spirit of pulling together for the welfare of the country.

Usual Assurances

Already the preliminary Democratic "keynotes" have indicated this line of attack, and it will be a difficult one for the Republicans to meet. Of course, Mr. Davis will dwell upon alleged corruption "in high places" at Washington, but the oil scandals and other revelations in the capital will not cut the figure in the campaign that was originally supposed.

Meantime, Messrs. Davis and Coolidge have been getting the usual "good news" handed out by aspiring politicians to the party standard bearers. Candidates always have to put up with this sort of thing. Mr. Davis has been told that the Democrats will carry Pennsylvania and Mr. Coolidge has been advised the Republicans are likely to carry the solid south. Both Mr. Davis and Mr. Coolidge are "assured" of Indiana, both will get Illinois and both will get Ohio.

Mr. Coolidge grimly bears all of the "good news." Mr. Davis smiles engagingly at the talk of the prophets and the sons of prophets. The open session for political prognostications is on. It will not close until the ballots with the snows of early November.

Two thousand photographs from airplane were recently made in making a map of the City of New York.

COMMENT That's All

No One Knows It All
Here Are Six Questions
Glendale's Baseball Team
Asks In Home Town Paper

By Gil A. Cowan

Day in and day out learned men, and some not so learned, write editorials.

They expound on topics so diverse one sometimes wonders where all the information has been absorbed by their intellectual brains.

Other writers use fiction to carry their thoughts to readers. And still others make profound addresses on scholarly subjects of which this humble commentator knows little.

That is the way of life—each one working out his own salvation in his own way. Each one getting his own impression and recording them either in mind or matter.

So prolific has this world become with the modern printing machinery that no one person, no group of persons, no nationality could expect to learn all there is to know, yet only a few thousand years ago the world knew literally nothing, as compared to this present age.

May it not be true that we know as little as compared with the world of tomorrow? Or are we approaching the millennium?

Should we dare say that the world stands at the threshold, there are those who would say otherwise. If we would say the age of the millennium has arrived, there are more who would say we were wrong.

At any rate this world has reached the point where it is saturated with knowledge that it is incomprehensible to any one of us.

The fact that a person is ignorant on any given subject is not to his discredit. This writer could ask six questions which the average person could not answer without research, and yet the information should be of common knowledge.

For instance, here are six puzzles that come to mind: What was the Gallipoli campaign?

Who are Murchio, Guisto and Maderias?

Why did corn and wheat hit a new high mark last week?

When is National Defense day?

Where does the vice-president of the United States spend his vacation?

How many home runs has Babe Ruth made this year?

Now, to tell the truth, the writer doesn't know the answers to half the questions asked, so if you do—why, you have the advantage.

Glendale has a baseball team of which it should be proud. With two dozen straight victories to its credit, the White Sox club is looking for a contender that will break the winning streak.

Just as the fastest growing city is making a record, these ball players are going to be the cynosure of all eyes. An unbeatable team is a mighty good advertisement.

Glendale people have a right to be proud of their "home town" and its team.

"Buying in Glendale" has become a reality in the last few years. There was a day, the writer recalls, when the merchants of this city took second place, but, with more stores, bigger stocks and a loyal spirit, these obstacles have been overcome.

Not only that, you can get more personal service, later styles, equally good values and credit right here at home, if you would but look around. No need of shopping elsewhere if you follow the advertisements in The Glendale Evening News.

The person or firm that doesn't take advantage of advertising in the "home town" paper is the loser, no one else. The Glendale Evening News offers all the opportunity of gaining business through its columns.

You should patronize those who advertise because they merit your confidence.

Further, they are the ones who are building a greater Glendale.

Visit Citrus Groves To Observe Fruits

RIVERSIDE, July 22.—Summer students at the Riverside State Experiment station visit citrus groves in Orange county Saturday, observing the cultivation and harvesting of sub-tropical fruit. At the Irvine ranch they noted the large plantings of paw-paws, while at the Thayer ranch loquats came in for special attention.

Croker Heirs Battle For Share of Estate

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 22.—Children of the late Richard Croker, former Tammany hall chieftain, continued their battle to gain possession of a part of his mammoth estate when Richard Croker, Jr., filed a $250,000 damage suit against Mrs. Bula F. Croker, widow of the elder Croker. The suit, filed by letter, involved a certain contract in which the widow was involved.

Urges Wild Hemp as Cover Plant for Soil

BLITHE, July 22.—Use for wild hemp, which grows in the Palo Verde valley, has been found, it is reported. As a cover plant to return nitrogen to the soil it is equal to clover. Secretary Mahanke of the Chamber of Commerce has learned. He is spreading the news to cotton growers.

SATURDAY'S BATH AMERICAN HABIT

Increase in Cleanliness Is Shown by Consumption
Of Soap Products

By J. C. ROYLE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, July 22.—Saturday night may be only the end of the week for some Americans but to a fair majority it still marks the arrival of a national institution, the Saturday night bath. Americans are the most bathed people in the world, according to accurate statistics, and more of them do their bathing Saturday night than at any other time.

More than 700,000 new bath tubs were made last year and over a million are expected to be manufactured before next January. Since for the average bath in a tub between 40 and 60 gallons of water are used, the tide of soap suds rises high. And it is at its flood on Saturday nights. This is proven by accurate measure of the water drawn from city mains and the additional amount of gas consumed in the cities to heat the water to between 140 to 160 degrees. It requires from two to three cubic feet of gas to raise a gallon of water 100 degrees.

The per capita consumption of water in American cities is 200 to 300 per cent greater than in European cities and on Saturday nights this percentage is doubled or tripled. The ordinary householder in this country uses about 7500 gallons of water a month.

Nation's Soap Bill
Representatives of the largest soap producers in this country assert that every family (averaging 4.4 persons) in the United States, consumes at least 80 pounds of soap during the year and the consumption on Saturday night is even higher than on wash days. Over 2,000,000,000 pounds of soap were used in this country in the last year by families, which at present prices means a bill for cleanliness of $250,000,000 annually. This estimate, according to R. R. Deupree, sales manager of the Procter & Gamble company, does not include soap used for manufacturing purposes.

"In addition to home consumption," he said, "the soap used in industrial and textile fields and that consumed in hotels, office buildings, laundries, public institutions and as transportation lines adds another 500,000,000 pounds to consumption and raises the soap bill of the nation to $312,000,000."

Cleanliness Grows
The advance in habits of personal cleanliness is indicated by the demand for large sized cakes of toilet soap which usually are used for bathing purposes. Consumption of soap in rural territory is now nearly as high as in the cities, whereas it formerly was 25 per cent smaller. This was due in large part to the fact that farmers were formerly accustomed to make their own soap.

"Apparently the farmer has been quick to realize that it was not economical to make his own soap," said H. N. Brutton, of the Procter & Gamble company today. "Now, due to improved manufacturing conditions resulting in greater economies and better quality, it is uncommon to find a rural dweller who makes soap at home."

The art of soap making is an old one, the first authentic mention of which is made in the writings of the elder Pliny, who died 79 A. D. Pliny said, however, that the products, made from goat's tallow and wood ashes was used by the Gauls and Germans only to give a red color to their hair. The first mention of its use for removing dirt from the body and clothing was in the second century. It did not attain general use, however, until about 1500, when the soap industry grew rapidly in Castile and Marseilles where soap was made of olive oil and lye.

Showers in Homes
The introduction of showers in the homes, which had been a marked feature of new building construction, has tended to conserve the amount of water used for bathing as a shower bath consumes less water than one takes in a tub. It has also increased the demand for large cakes of soap, since they are easier to hold and cover the surface with lather more quickly.

Hotel baths are used twice as often by transient guests as by permanent guests according to hotel managers. This would indicate that the daily bath is not yet by any means universal in this country. Investigation shows that office employees wash their hands regularly at lunch time but not so regularly at the end of the day's work.

Standard Oil Facing Indiana Court Probe

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 22.—A definite step in the war on gasoline prices was taken when Attorney-General Jesse Barrett filed a petition with Chief Justice W. W. Graves of the supreme court en banc for the investigation of the business of the Standard Oil company of Indiana in this state.

The first hearing will be held at the offices of the attorney-general here August 11. Barrett charged that the Standard Oil company of Indiana had conspired and combined with other oil companies to restrict the sale of gasoline and keep up the price in Missouri.

Lollipop In Desk Of Jurist Causes Epidemic of Ants

A mysterious epidemic of energetic ants that had been puzzling the City Hall for some days was finally traced—you couldn't guess!—to a lollipop in a desk in the private office of Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court.

Let there be any implication of less majesty, it should hardly be added that right and title in said lollipop was shown to be vested, not in His Honor, but in his stenographer. With the removal of this choice hymenopterous tidbit the ants promptly sought sweeter quarters.

Oklahoma Ranchmen Sued for 3000 Acres

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 22.—The United States, through East S. Smith, special attorney, has filed suit in federal court against Miller brothers, owners of the 101 ranch, near Ponca City, to recover 3000 acres of land now held by the showmen. The land is claimed by the Indians, who charged that it was fraudulently obtained from them. The bill, containing four counts, named as defendants George L. Zacht and Joseph C. Miller, owners of the ranch, and Joe E. Carlon and W. E. Brooks, trustees.

UNIQUE SALE OF TRADE-IN AUTOS

Reo Motor Car Company to Sell Large Stock In Four Days' Time

During the spring and summer time almost everyone is thinking of vacation plans or preparing to leave the city for a few days or weeks at the beach or in the mountains. The automobile is almost a necessity for the thorough enjoyment of such an outing and with this end in view and with many people away, the Reo Motor Car company of California, Inc., is holding a special used car sale this week which will give the non-owner of those who want a used car "just a little better than the one they have been driving" an opportunity to pick up what they have long desired.

Both used car and new car departments have been given over to the display of these used cars of various makes, and a special display of used trucks is also being made. Descriptive matter and, in most cases, terms upon which the car or truck may be purchased will be displayed prominently on a tag attached to the radiator cap of each unit and an extra force of salesmen will be on hand to care for customers.

Such a sale is unique in the annals of the company, but was recently decided upon to clear out the entire stock of "trade-ins" on hand. This stock will vary from

Texas Peanut Crop's Acreage Is 114,680

HOUSTON, Texas, July 22.—The acreage devoted to cultivation of peanuts in Texas this year is estimated at 114,680. Condition of the crop is placed at 82, or slightly under the ten-year average.

Major operations were performed this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on Misses Elsie Rogers and Lena Thompson, both employed at the sanitarium.

models of many makes dating back several years to the very latest 1924 cars and trucks. Prices have been cut down to the limit and in every case R. C. Hennessy, the manager, declares the car or truck will be found to be a real bargain at the figure quoted.

Easy terms may be arranged on practically everything offered during the sale and many persons who never before believed they could afford to own a car will be able to drive away in something they can be proud to own and which will give them an opportunity to make a vacation trip by motor and to own transportation for Sunday trips or to carry them back and forth between their homes and work. The special sale opens tomorrow, Wednesday, and will close Saturday night at 9 o'clock. The Reo salesrooms, at 124 South Orange street, will be kept open evenings until 9, as has been customary in the past.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

NATURAL FOODS AND VIRILITY—No. 2

In yesterday's paper I gave you a partial resume of Dr. Robert McCarrison's lecture on his work in the Himalayas. He found there among the Himalayans many races who are of magnificent physique, unusual fertility and virility, preserving until late in life the characteristics of youth. He attributes their virility to the fact that they live on natural foods and that their manner of life requires vigorous exercises and that their religion prohibits the use of alcohol.

One of the chiefs took the doctor to task for his eagerness to prolong the lives of some of his people. The operation for senile cataract appeared to the chief to be a waste of the doctor's time; and he tentatively suggested the introduction of some form of lethal chamber to remove those who by reason of their age were no longer of use to the community. There used to be a custom among some of the races which required the eldest son, on pain of death, to carry in a conical basket his aged and decrepit parents to the top of a high rock from which to hurl them to destruction. This custom died out only in recent years, under the protective influence of the British rule, and the proverb "Every man's basket for his son" still survives the custom.

The fact that the gastro-intestinal tract is the first function to suffer on an ill-balanced diet, McCarrison proved by experiments in the feeding of wild monkeys. Research workers in America have proved the same. Here's the description as given by McCarrison himself:

"Thirty-six wild monkeys were captured in the jungles of Madras and transported to my laboratory in the hills at Coonor. They were in perfect health and full of vigor—wild things usually are. Each of these animals was placed in a separate cage, and all were confined in the same room. One attendant looked after them all. Twelve of them were fed on natural food, the remaining twenty-four on food deficient in some cases in vitamins as well as ill-balanced; others were fed on natural food in which the living enzymes had been destroyed by sterilization. Those that were naturally fed remained free from intestinal disease; those that were fed on deficient and ill-balanced food and on sterilized food developed, within a short time in the majority of cases, diarrhoea and actual dysentery. Here, then, is an unequivocal instance not only of the effect of faulty food in inducing a specific disease such as dysentery but of the protection against it that is afforded by a natural and well-balanced food."

McCarrison also found in his animal experiments that the family diet not only had a very bad effect upon the digestive organs and the gastro-intestinal tract, but it had very harmful effects upon those regulators of the body—the internal glands (the thyroid, pituitary, and the fourth), and there was a lowering of the activities of the liver. McCarrison believes that the prolonged use of a moderately faulty food will lead to a disturbance in the system just as certain as less prolonged use of a more faulty food. With the impairment of the gastro-intestinal tract, there is also a lowering of the resistance of the intestinal mucous membrane against infection. This not only results in infections of mucous membrane itself, but also permits the germs to gain access to the blood stream. McCarrison's work and conclusions are supported by the work and conclusions of the nutritional experts in our country and elsewhere.

In the last part of the lecture, McCarrison presented evidence that faulty food is largely used by many civilized people at the present day. He concluded his lecture as follows:

"I trust I have said enough to serve as an introduction to the study of this important subject, than which there is none more worthy of the consideration of those whose life is spent, or to be spent, in guarding the national health. It seems to me that in regard to it we have three obvious duties; the first, to instruct the masses as to what to eat and why they eat it; the second, to apply the results of our science to the production of natural foods in abundance and to their widespread and cheap distribution, rather than to the erection of institutions for the treatment of maladies due to their want; the third, and most important, ardently to pursue our investigations and acquirements of knowledge."

"Let not him who seeketh, cease from seeking until he hath found; and when he hath found he shall wonder."

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer your personal questions. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible for me to answer all of them. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as far as possible. If they are of general interest, I don't forget the a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

"Please write something about the need of keeping cheerful when doing one's housework," writes a Bride Reader of this column who signs herself "Cheshire-Cat Smile." The letter goes on: "Why didn't somebody tell me when I married that nine-tenths of the housekeeper's job lay in maintaining an even and placid temperament? I had to learn by experience that when the house-keeper ceases to smile, everything in the house goes wrong. They teach us cooking, they teach us cleaning, but they neglect to teach us the thing most important to the housekeeper's success: namely, that we must put on cheerfulness with our aprons."

I am sure that all housekeepers will be tremendously interested in this letter. For haven't we all had to "learn by experience" that "everything in the house goes wrong" when we relax our smile? Also that all the other members of the family lose their smiles, when we lose ours?

Why is this so? Because house-keeping is a self-sacrificing profession; we housekeepers are privileged to serve others (and woman's greatest joy lies in being needed). Therefore, when we cease to be cheerful in our self-sacrificing work, we unconsciously give those about us the impression that we begrudge them our daily and constant service. This accounts for the fact that Grandmother and Uncle and Brother and Sister and Father may all indulge in an occasional fit of the blues without upsetting the household—but that the housekeeper can't!

It is human to feel "down" now and then. Because the house-keeper's work keeps her much by herself, with her children at school and her husband at business, there is a constant temptation to turn things over in her mind. She wonders if Mrs. A. really was criticizing her new hat when she made that strange remark, or if Mrs. B. thought she was rude the other day at the club? Yet, the woman who has a firm will uses cheerfulness as an armor. I know of a house-keeper whose motto is: "Lock heart—and throw the key away!" She told me that she sometimes actually went through the motions of turning an imaginary key in her heart and tossing the imaginary key away! If she didn't do that, she declared, she'd find herself pouring out her little daily irritations on her tired husband when he got home from business, thereby breaking the most important rule for the house-keeper: Make a Business of Smiling.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "House-keeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Social : Clubs

Edited by KATHERINE V. SINKS

Tells Betrothal

One of the pleasing social events of the week was the informal social affair given last night by Miss Hazel Walters when she announced her engagement to Clarence McMillan of New York. The affair was given at the home of Miss Walters' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Palmer of 1136 East Elk avenue, with whom she makes her home.

A pink and white color scheme was attractively employed in the decorative scheme. Arrangements of pink and white sweet-peas were used in profusion. A beautiful basket of sweet-peas formed the centerpiece for the refreshment table.

The announcement of the betrothal and approaching marriage of Miss Walters and Mr. McMillan was revealed during the serving of the refreshments. Dainty cards representing tiny baskets, tied with pink ribbons, marked the guests' places. On these cards were written the names of Miss Walters and Mr. McMillan and the date of their marriage, August 28.

The evening was devoted to an informal social time and an impromptu musical program. The guests present included the Misses Evangeline Quackenbush, Ruth Palmer, Rose Parker, and Mesdames Stanley O. Walker, Roland Walters, J. A. Quackenbush, O. S. Palmer, N. H. Palmer and A. V. Tarling.

Informal Affair

Miss Helen Gould and sister, Mrs. John G. Pixley, were joint hostesses Saturday afternoon when they entertained with a delightful affair at the home of the latter, 1024 Raymond street, complimenting Mrs. James G. Lyons of 619 North Howard street.

Pink, white and blue were attractively carried out in the decorations. In the center of the dining-room table a miniature stork stood guard over a pink and white cradle filled with many lovely gifts. Stork place cards and dainty booties nut baskets marked the guests' places.

Those present included, besides the honoree, the Misses Alda Gervais, Nyda Dana, Irene Gervais, and Mrs. Margaret Gould of Glendale and Mrs. Cecil Peterson of Los Angeles.

Garden Bazaar

Girl Scouts of Troop 4 are inviting all their friends to a garden festival tomorrow at the J. O. Brosseau home at 439 West Vine street. The affair is to begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until 8 o'clock at night. It will be in the nature of a bazaar and many lovely things will be on sale.

Personal Notes

Phone Personals to Social Department, Glendale 4000.

The many friends of Mrs. John Strother of 333 West California avenue, who has been ill for the past week, will be glad to learn she is able to be up again.

Miss Marie Johnson of 135 North Olive street, is enjoying a motor trip through the northern part of the state. While in the north she will visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Spaulding of 335 Salem street returned home Saturday after spending an enjoyable week in San Francisco, where they visited with friends.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue entertained at their dinner guests on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hulbert and Miss Vogel of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Salmacia and daughter Margaret of 361 West California street, left last night for San Francisco where Mr. Salmacia will attend the Music Dealers' convention. They expect to return home next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. W. Henry of 224 Arden avenue are having the pleasure of entertaining as their guests, the niece, Miss Evelyn Wilcox of San Jose. Miss Wilcox has been visiting in Santa Barbara and plans to spend two weeks here before returning to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Singleton and daughter, Miss Mildred Singleton of 318 West Wilson avenue, accompanied by Mr. Singleton's father and brother and sister-in-law, G. W. Singleton and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Singleton of Los Angeles, spent an enjoyable week-end at Santa Monica.

Dr. Charles Frances Yoder of Rio Cuarto, South America, is visiting with his brother, Frank Yoder and family on East Harvard street. Dr. Yoder has spent fourteen years as a missionary in the South American and teacher in the National College of the Argentine Republic. From here he will go to Winona Lake, Ind., where he will appear on the program at the Presbyterian Bible conference.

Miss Ruth Walton of 517 North Kenwood street leaves tonight for Portland and Albany, Ore., for a visit with relatives and friends. During the month of August she will join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walton, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sargent at Sacramento and go with them to Yellowstone National park. Miss Ruth Walton and Mrs. J. W. Walton were the luncheon guests today of Mrs. Andrews at her home in San Gabriel.

Wedding Today

The beautiful home of Miss Margaret Mitchell, on Commonwealth drive, Flintridge, was the setting of an early morning wedding today, Tuesday, July 22, 1924, when Mrs. Allie Anderson of 1100 East Windsor road, became the bride of Thomas S. Roberts of Los Angeles. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, was the officiant at the single ring ceremony at 7 o'clock.

Those in attendance were Mrs. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Baumgardner of Pasadena; Mr. Roberts' sister, Mrs. Emerson of Los Angeles, R. A. Leclaire of Los Angeles, and Miss Mitchell.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left by motor for Santa Barbara, where they will spend several days. Both Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are Missourians, as are also those attending the wedding. All were old friends in the state of Missouri before coming to California. Mrs. Roberts is widely known for her business success conducting a sanitarium in Glendale. She is superintendent of the Golden West Sanitarium on East Windsor road. In addition to her business activities she is prominent as a member of the Tuesday Afternoon club, the Business and Professional Women's club and the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Roberts is a retired business man.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are to make their home in Glendale.

Picnic in Park

Brookside park, Pasadena, was the scene Saturday of a picnic enjoyed by the Christian Endeavorers of the Glendale Presbyterian church. Leaving the church at 3 o'clock the young people reached the park in time for tennis matches and swimming before the time for dinner. There were over thirty-five in the party. After the dinner hour games were played on the lawn.

With Mrs. Sawyer

The R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church will hold its regular all day meeting Thursday, July 24, at the home of Mrs. Edna Sawyer, 611 West Doran street. The meeting will convene at 2:30 o'clock.

Guests Thursday

Women of the Letter Carriers' auxiliary are to be guests Thursday afternoon of Mrs. Irmischer of 524 West Dryden street. The wives of all letter carriers are invited to attend the informal social affair.

FRECKLES

I have the formula for a fairly powerful freckle lotion which should be applied to the face with a camel's hair brush so that it touches only the freckle and not the surrounding natural color skin. It is made as follows:

Freckle Specific

Distilled water 6 ounces
Glycerine 2 ounces
Dextrose 1/2 ounce
Oxide of zinc 1/2 ounce
Oxide of bismuth 1/2 ounce
Corrosive sublimate 6 grains

Dissolve the last three substances in the water, add the dextrose to the glycerine. Put the two mixtures together and shake well, but not violently. This mixture should be kept in a bottle and held an instant against the neck of the bottle so that there is not too much liquid on it, otherwise you will get the mixture all over your skin instead of only on the freckles.

The above treatment is for severe cases. The directions given last week for avoiding sunburn will also help you to avoid freckles. Freckles are small collections of the pigment or coloring matter of the skin drawn up to the surface in the form of little spots by the action of the electric rays of the sun. You can bleach out an entire collection of freckles, but the following day, if you go out without taking precautions you will acquire an entirely new crop. The color pigments in the blood, and in the case of people with a great deal of iron in the blood, or with very fine or thin skins, the freckles come out more easily.

A mixture of equal parts of peroxide of hydrogen, rose water and lemon juice is excellent to use for this annoyance as well as for sunburn. Full strength peroxide applied over the worst places with a little wad of absorbent cotton is a good bleach.

R. T. S.—You have already done much toward ridding yourself of these disfiguring lines, now that you have discovered they come from fretting over things; and the fact that they are hardly visible when you awaken in the morning proves that you are right. At 25 years of age such lines will disappear very soon if you stop acquiring them.

PLAN SPORTS FOR SYNOD VISITORS

Tennis, Golf, Baseball to Be Played by Delegates
To Church Meet

The baseball game at Occidental college. This game will be played by teams consisting of ministers on one side and young people of the church on the other side. The game will follow a luncheon at the college, given by Remsen D. Bird, D. D., president of Occidental college.

Monday's recreational program calls for a trip to the movie studios of Hollywood, Culver City and Universal City, where the delegates, through the courtesy of studio managers, will be given an opportunity to see movies made. Following the exposition into filmland, the delegates will visit the museum at Exposition park, Los Angeles, to look over the famous La Brea pit fossils.

Tennis and Golf
The finals in the tennis and golf tournaments will be staged Tuesday afternoon, the tennis matches being held on the hard courts at the Harvard High school grounds, while the golf finals will be on the various links close to the city.

For those who do not care to watch the tennis or golf finals, there will be a baseball game Tuesday afternoon at Harvard High school diamond for the championship of California, when delegates from northern California will play delegates from southern California.

Wednesday afternoon the delegates will make a scenic trip to the beach, spending several hours bathing in the surf or watching the other folks frolic about in the water. The trip to the beach will be made in automobiles, the special committee on automobiles, headed by W. J. Clendenin, John Horsch and Geo. D. McDill, having charge of transportation.

Pilgrimage Play
There is no recreational program planned for Thursday afternoon, July 31, as the final session of the synod will come to an end before luncheon. Arrangements have been made for a large delegation at the Pilgrimage Play in Los Angeles for Thursday night, however, with special rates to members of the synod.

The conference program is arranged in such a way that the principal sessions will be held in the morning and night, leaving the afternoon free for recreation, sightseeing and visiting. The night meetings will be featured by addresses delivered by prominent members of the presbytery and from eastern cities.

Vesper services will be held at 7 o'clock on Friday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Central Christian church. Dr. John Timothy Stone of Chicago, will be in charge of vesper services.

Girl's Teeth Deflect Shot From Pistol

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., July 22.—Because she had good teeth, Elsie Farrar, ten years old, is alive today. Elsie was shot in the face by a .38-caliber revolver with which her playmate, George Seipp, Jr., ten years old, was demonstrating what he would do to burglars.

The revolver was about a foot away from the girl's mouth when accidentally discharged. The bullet struck Elsie in the nose, ranged downward, circled the mouth, knocked out two upper molar teeth and lodged between two others. Elsie calmly picked the missile from her mouth and ran for assistance.

Uncle Jack, Aged 106, Ready to Celebrate

WABASH, Ind., July 22.—"Uncle Jack" Higgins, who sometimes goes by the name of "Kid" Higgins, is out rounding up enthusiasm for another big municipal celebration of his natal day. He will be 106 years old on July 15. Last year a great demonstration was staged for him in the city park. He is said to be in better health this year than last. "Uncle Jack" was born in England and saw practically every country in the world while in service in the British navy.

38 Wolves Slain In One Illinois County

MONMOUTH, Ill., July 22.—War on ground hogs has been declared by the farmers of Warren County. A total of 1007 ground-hog scalps have been turned in to the county clerk, and $376.75 has been paid out in bounty on the scalps. Ground hogs have been very troublesome pests in the county this year.

Thirty-eight wolves also have been killed in the county since March and bounties claimed on them.

Nearly Killed While Trying to Slay Cow

GALVA, Ill., July 22.—While butchering a cow, Ralph Barlow, a Galva butcher, nearly butchered himself. The cow had been shot and was down; but when Barlow attempted to cut its throat with a knife, the animal tossed him into the air. In falling he cut a gash in his leg with the knife that required nine stitches to close.

Underwriters' Annual Convention Opened

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Three thousand delegates from all parts of the country were in attendance when the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Life Underwriters' association was opened here today. Sessions will end Friday.

The initial session was marked by the announcement that Kansas City had been selected as the 1925 convention city. Dr. S. S. Huebner, University of Pennsylvania; Frank Pitts, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; S. J. Vogel, San Francisco; J. S. Fabling, Denver, and F. W. Heron, San Francisco, were among the delegates appearing on today's program.

Consider Hughes' Talk As Formal Statement

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The speech of Secretary of State Hughes, in London, before the Pilgrims' society, relative to the American attitude on the reparations situation and the Dawes plan, may be regarded as a formal statement of the policy of the United States government, it was stated at the White House today in behalf of President Coolidge. The presidential spokesman had nothing to add to Mr. Hughes' statement.

Trace Impure Canned Food Causing Death

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—With one person dead and another dying, Coroner Frank Nance today launched an investigation to determine the source of canned food sold to Mrs. Marion Condit. Mrs. Condit is dead and her son, Robert, is reported dying in a Los Angeles hospital. According to physicians, botulism, a form of ptomaine poisoning, caused by eating the impure canned food brought death to Mrs. Condit.

Closing Arguments In Dynamite Murder Case

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 22.—With the fate of three men charged with the death of a fellow townsman hanging in the balance, final arguments were started today by prosecution and defense attorneys in the trial here of W. H. Downs, Los Olivos postmaster; Taylor Downs, farmer, and W. T. Crawford, wealthy cattleman, for the dynamite murder of J. J. McGuire, village blacksmith.

Report No New Fires In National Forest

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—With no new fires in national forests reported today, and all of the blazes which were recently raging, still under control, California continued today to recover from the disastrous conflagrations of the past month.

The Forest Hills divide blaze in Tahoe national forest was being watched by a "skeleton" crew of approximately 250 men who were centering their efforts today on total extinguishment of smoldering embers.

Forestry officials described the situation as "excellent," but continued to stress the fact that the utmost vigilance was necessary as the next six weeks are the danger periods in which parched underbrush and timber will require constant watching to prevent further outbreaks.

VALLEY REALTORS PLAN EXPANSION

Two New Members Added at Meeting Monday; Talk
Multiple Listing

TUJUNGA, July 22.—Two new members were added to the Tujunga Valley Realty board at the Monday meeting when Mrs. Genevieve Adams and Mrs. Kautz joined the ranks of local realtors. Plans for adopting multiple listing were discussed and suggestions made. A committee was appointed to draft by-laws for the adoption of multiple listing, consisting of Leo Smith, J. H. Lamson, Leon Harvey, Genevieve Adams and Clarence C. Buck.

An educational program is being followed by the Tujunga board, the course being furnished by the University of California. Twelve members of the local board are taking the course, which covers up-to-date methods of conducting the real estate business.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for attending the convention of the State Association of Realty boards to be held at Pasadena in October. This committee consists of Clarence C. Buck, E. T. Theobald and George Aikens.

Legion Members Plan For Annual Festival

TUJUNGA, July 22.—Plans for the annual Moon Festival of the Tujungans are being worked out by the committee of the American Legion, which sponsors this yearly pageant in the hills. The committee recently went to Whittier to attend the exposition there for the purpose of getting ideas for the Tujunga carnival. Promoters of the Whittier shows at the exposition may bring their attractions to Tujunga for the three days' run, August 30, 31 and September 1.

Ten-Apartment Court Is Built at Tujunga

TUJUNGA, July 22.—A ten-apartment court is being built on Michigan avenue between Haines Canyon road and Marshall street. A. M. Price is the owner and expects to have five of the apartments ready for occupancy soon. The apartments are the first to be built in Tujunga and are all modern with built-in features. The exterior is of stucco finish. The grounds will be improved with cement walks and shrubbery along the front line of the property.

Buy New Chairs for Women's Clubhouse

TUJUNGA, July 22.—Fifty new chairs have been purchased by the Tujunga Women's club for the new club house recently built.

Mrs. Jessie B. Jonderton has been appointed press representative for the club, succeeding Mrs. L. May Dean, who resigned. Several entertainments are being planned by the club for the coming summer months and will be announced soon.

Shoes that are promised to give greater ease are being made of braided leather in Berlin.

Fraternity Members Are Guests at Lodge

TUJUNGA, July 22.—Thirty-four members of the Alpha Tau Omega of Los Angeles, under the leadership of Mr. Haniwalt of Haniwalt & Spaulding, spent a week-end outing at Wildwood Lodge in the Big Tujunga canyon. Their own four-piece orchestra accompanied them and furnished music under the leadership of Phil Pokar. Games and camp sports were enjoyed by the party. Mrs. Gordon of Los Angeles spent two weeks at the Lodge and Mrs. Kimmel, also of Los Angeles, is spending three weeks' vacation there. The road up the canyon from Tujunga is reported in excellent condition.

Ohio University Now Fifty-two Years Old

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 22.—Ohio State university began its fifty-first year as a major educational institution this month. During the first half century the university graduated approximately 15,000 students. At least 20,000 more, according to the school records, have attended Ohio State.

Savants Find Mice That Swim With Ease

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 22.—Aquatic mice, capable of diving and swimming like porpoises, or running across the fields like other rodents, were discovered in the Fymatuning swamp, Crawford county, by a group of thirty-five Pittsburgh scientists who visited the swamp recently.

Japs Deny Enmity to Foreigners In Tokio

TOKIO, July 22.—It was denied by foreign office sources that there exists any anti-foreign movement in Tokio. The luxury tax is not regarded by the government as an anti-foreign move nor is the ministry maneuvering in that direction, officials said.

Demand of Metal Workers Is Refused

SEATTLE, July 22.—The demand of skilled workers in the metal trades for an increase from $8.50 to $9.50 a day has been refused by employers, who have issued advertisements announcing an open shop. Three hundred workers have quit.

Girl Begs for Food; Father Is Millionaire

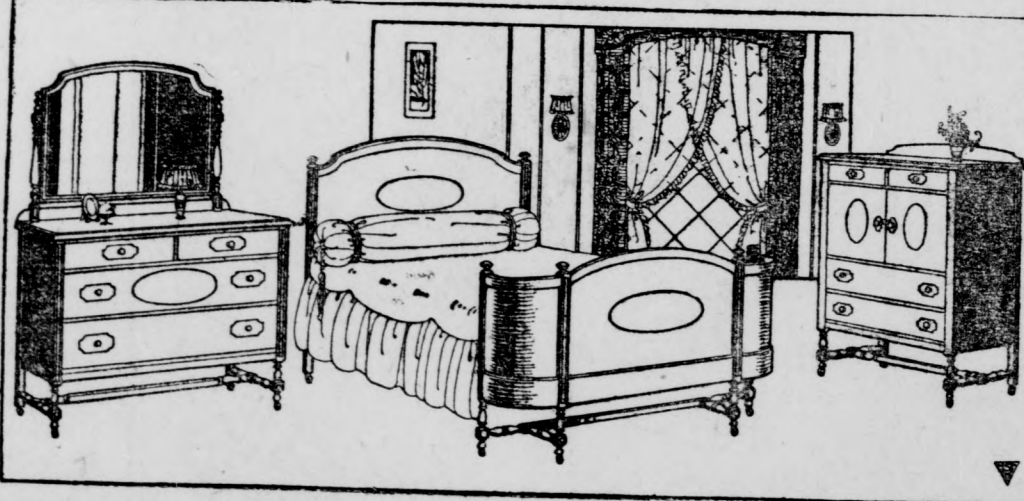

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Penitence, after a long trip from Oklahoma where she claims she left a millionaire father to seek her fortune in the world, Brycia Sykes, 19, was being questioned here by police today. The girl applied to the officers for food.

CHAPTER VIII

Craig Spaulding came down to the office the next morning, and the entire factory immediately felt the benefit of the new influence in the place. He had a big desk in his uncle's room, as befitted the president's son and prospective owner of the plant, but he also had a desk in the outer office, where Hilary and old Kraut spent their days, and, in the beginning, there was hardly an hour when he did not refer to the girl for information or direction.

"She's remarkable; she ought to be in the city office," he told his uncle. "We'll have to do something about that trip to Europe!" But to Hilary he made no sign, except by his always-ready, quiet smile of thanks, and his respectful and appreciative manner. They worked together, side by side, day after day, and Hilary noted that his attitude toward her never changed from the pleasant, friendly aspect that had shown her on the very first night of their acquaintance.

But on her side this was not the case. She was bewildered by the persistence with which her thoughts played with the entirely improbable role of her being his wife. Hilary was essentially practical, any good thing that had ever come her way she had always seized, for herself and Dora. Now, against her will, her thoughts were of the immense advantage of a good marriage—of this marriage. Whether to be most angry or most amused at herself she did not know; what she did know was that Craig must never have cause to suspect that his uncle's secretary, "like half the other idiot women of his acquaintance," Hilary phrased it in her thoughts, had fallen in love with him, and was busy with a hundred details of the wedding as she demurely went about his office.

At least, Hilary supposed that what she felt was the process known as falling in love. She had had no other experience with which to compare it. She would never have supposed herself capable of such folly, had not the actual evidence been constantly with her, the quick sense of color leaving or flooding her face, the bewildering disquiet of her senses, her acute consciousness of Craig's presence, her ridiculous jealousy when he went away, to be with other people, and above all under all, an uneasy sense that she must not let this extraordinary opportunity, if it was an opportunity, escape her. His interest, his money and position, would solve the great problem of poverty once and for all. Besides, he was brilliant and charming. His least word to her she remembered, and she eagerly gathered such crumbs as fell from the loaded table of his casual conversation.

He knew everything, and every place, and everyone worth while, she thought. Writers, diplomats, prominent persons of all sorts were his friends. He was at home in the most exclusive houses in the land; phrases about tennis, about books, about travel, as he uttered them, fascinated her.

Like many another pretty woman, Hilary grew actually beautiful in this time of hopes and dreams. She did not seriously analyze the situation herself; there was nothing to analyze. But Dora noted the change in her, the softness in her blue eyes, the glow of her cheeks, the loosened beauty of the rich, soft hair that Hilary had always kept so primly close and plain.

"Hilary, what's the matter with you?" Dora asked more than once. "Matter?" Hilary would compose her dancing heart and dancing eyes into something like their old decorum.

"Yes, you didn't hear me! Did tickets come?"

"The—? Oh, Kronski, of course. Yes, they came." But Hilary's smile still held behind it something that baffled Dora. It was as if the elder sister were meditating upon some delectable secret.

She had her bad times. There were hours when the obvious chasm between her lot and Craig's seemed to her the keenest depression. What an idiot she was to let herself enjoy this purely accidental propinquity, she would reflect. He knew dozens of girls—hundreds—who could offer him all that she could, and a thousand times more! He haunted him, the fortunate, exquisite girls; they telephoned him from New York, included him in their plans. They bought glori-ous frocks about concerts and riding-lessons, they were little triumphs of beauty and culture and sophistication and charm! When he went to New York, as he frequently did on Saturday afternoons, Hilary was actually unhappy and uneasy; and, with all her old level-headed philosophy, she could not laugh herself out of it.

Still, men did fall in love with girls, and marry them, she reasoned. And she was a gentle-

"A Mile-a-Minute Kendall" is amusing large audiences at the tent theatre of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. Howls of laughter mingled with tense moments of silence characterize the progress of the play, which is a rapid-fire comedy and shows this versatile troupe in still another attractive offering.

woman, and her blood was as good as his own—

But what nonsense, what nonsense! Even had she had anything to build upon, any tender word of admiring glance from Craig, this would be rank treason to what all her life had been building and planning: Dora, and Dora's trip, must come first. She could not indulge in any personal dream. Had she not promised her father to be loyal to his hopes, and her mother's hopes, for Dora? Was this ridiculous and baseless dream to wreck Dora's future as well?

She had nothing to encourage it, she told herself with bitter honesty. There was hardly a woman of her acquaintance whose claim upon Craig was not more substantial than her own. And the world, Hilary, under the impression that she was concluding the topic, once and for all, reminded herself—the world was full of amorous stenographers falling in love with their employers. It must stop.

But it did not stop. Hilary was young; younger in this particular phase of her nature than are most girls of twenty-three, and she had never met a man of Craig's type before. She could only conceal her ridiculous day-dream, and trust that the passing of a few months would restore her to her usual common sense, and effect a complete cure.

One icy afternoon, when Craig had been about three weeks in Mount Holly, they were alone in the office. John Spaulding and his wife were with a married daughter, in Philadelphia, and old Kraut was at home with a heavy cold. Hilary had been quite aware of the situation all day as she went demurely about with in-voices and correspondence; Craig had busied himself in the inner office, coming to her door only for an occasional inquiry or comment upon the work of the day.

Japan Raises Status Of Legation to China

TOKIO, July 22.—Japan's decision to raise its legation in China to an embassy will not depend upon the action of the United States in this regard, it was declared in government circles here. However, it was learned that, in case the United States takes such a step, there probably will be an attempt on the part of Japan to grant such recognition first.

The elevation of the legations to embassies is regarded here as most important because of the action of Russia in changing ambassadorships with China, thus giving the soviet government the deanship of the diplomatic corps un-der other nations raise the status of their diplomatic representatives.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PAPER HATS

One day Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl, called to Lulu Wiggily, the duck, saying,

"Let's go to the woods and call on Uncle Wiggily!"

"Uncle Wiggily doesn't live in the woods," quacked Lulu. "He has a hollow stump bungalow. We can go there."

"No, Uncle Wiggily is in the woods now," spoke Susie. "He is camping out in an umbrella tent near the brook. Maybe he will bake us a carrot pancake, if we go to his camp."

"Oh, come on then, let's go!" quacked Lulu. "And I'll wear my new hat."

"So will I!" said Susie. So the little rabbit girl and the little girl duck went off through the woods, wearing their new hats, and at last they reached the place where the rabbit gentleman was camping.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily, we have come to visit you," quacked Lulu as soon as she saw Mr. Longears, who was sitting under his umbrella tent reading a newspaper.

"Well, I am very glad to see you, my dears!" laughed the bunny as he twinkled his pink nose. "Are you hungry?" he asked.

"A little, if you please," answered Susie.

"Then come in my tent and I will broil you some turnip dumplings with cabbage sauce sprinkled on them," promised the rabbit.

Susie and Lulu took off their new hats, hanging them on the branches of a tree nearby, and then they had a fine little lunch with Uncle Wiggily, who broiled the turnip dumplings over his camp fire. The little girls were glad they had come to the woods and Uncle Wiggily played some games with them.

"But after a while, it suddenly began to rain. Down pelted the wet drops, and Susie and Lulu, seeing the shower, said:

"Oh, our new hats will be spoiled. We can't wear them home through the rain."

"Don't worry about that, my dears," said Uncle Wiggily, kindly. "I will make each of you a hat out of newspaper. You can wear the paper hats home and leave your other ones here until the weather clears."

"Oh, goodie!" cried Lulu and Susie.

It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to fold some sheets of his newspaper into quite clever little hats for the girls.

"If you hurry home the paper hats will keep the rain off you," said the bunny. "Of course, if you stay out too long in the rain the paper hats will melt, but they will be all right if you hurry."

So Lulu and Susie skipped home through the rain, wearing Uncle Wiggily's funny paper hats. And, no sooner were they gone from

CHALLENGE SENT OUT BY GLENDALE

White Sox Anxious to Meet Best Semi-Pro Team For Title

Keen competition is what the White Sox are looking for, Manager Carl Sawyer declared today, and in an effort to extend their scope and add more laurels to their string of twenty-four consecutive games, challenges have been issued to the Fleet Air Service team of San Diego, champions of the Pacific fleet, and the Sperry Flour of Stockton, champions of northern California.

The White Sox have defeated the fastest semi-pro teams in southern California, getting the better of such teams as Catalina Cubs, El Segundo, Pasadena, Gilmore Oilers, Van Nuys, Pacific Fleet All-Stars, Pacific Electric, Colored All-Stars, Boyer-Rothgeb, Sawtelle, Buick Autos, St. Louis Glants, Lankershim and Palm Springs City.

The local team finished at the top of the summer league, playing every other team twice and defeating them as many times. Their record of twenty-four consecutive victories gives semi-pro teams a good mark to shoot at. Frank Kerwin, owner of the champions, is still looking for a fast club to meet the Sox here Sunday.

Hoppe and Pitcher at Hollywood on Friday

K. O. Pitcher of Brooklyn, and Dick Hoppe, a couple of heavyweights will furnish the main attraction at the Hollywood American Legion stadium next Friday night. Pitcher made his debut at Hollywood several weeks ago and the fans were impressed by his first bout on the Pacific coast. Hoppe is well known around Hollywood, and the bout should be everything the fans desire.

In the semi-windup will be Eddie Digins and Tommy Carter, 133 pounds. Red Cole and Jimmy Lanning, 135 pounds, will mix in the special spot. Other bouts on the card arranged by Matchmaker Tom Kennedy are: Nick Antonio and Rusty Russell, Tommy Richards and Frankie Brown, 135 pounds; Lewis Jordan and Young Garcia, 126 pounds; Champ Munroe and Battling Ward, 128 pounds.

White Plague Attacks Many Poultry Flocks

URBANA, Ill., July 22.—Tuberculosis is attacking poultry flocks, experts of the animal pathology and hygiene division of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, have discovered. The disease has made its way into a majority of the farm flocks in some sections of the state and appears to be spreading. Avian tuberculosis—the type found in chickens—cannot be cured, its control depending entirely upon preventative measures, according to the university experts.

TAGGING THE BASES

Detroit tightened up the American league race by walloping the New York Yankees, 9 to 7. Cobb's men are now only half a game behind the Yanks.

Washington broke with an avalanche of hits and smothered the White Sox, 16 to 2.

The Browns won a hard-fought game from the Athletics, 4 to 2. Outfielder Evans' hitting being a deciding factor.

Speaker doubled and scored the winning run for Cleveland in the ninth in a hot tilt with the Red Sox. Score, 2 to 1.

In a thrilling eleven-inning game, Cincinnati nosed out the New York Giants, 8 to 7. Kelly's failure to touch the bag for the last out in the eleventh lost the game for McGraw's men.

Brooklyn and Pittsburgh broke even in a doubleheader, the Rousins winning, 6 to 2, and dropping the second, 4 to 2.

The fast-stepping Chicago Cubs made it six straight victories by trimming the Braves, 7 to 1.

St. Louis dropped an uninteresting game to the Phillies, 7 to 4.

Off-Season Delicacy For Grid Fans

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Here's an off the trail story that will at least be of interest to those fans who like college football, even above baseball.

While diamond fans are watching two nip and tuck battles in the big leagues for the New York controlled pennants, three husky gridiron warriors are toiling on a southern Indiana farm in the hope of making the Indiana U. team a championship outfit in next fall's Big Ten race.

The three men are brothers, George, Scott and Walter Fisher. George is the veteran of the three. He played tackle last season and made quite a rep for himself. Scott hopes to win an end berth. And Walter, a sophomore next year, has his eye on a guard position.

The boys live in Medora, Ind. Indiana is optimistic over its prospects next fall, and not even the difficulty encountered in constructing its new mammoth stadium has discouraged them. The Hoosiers were planning to open the new stadium next fall with a great home-coming celebration. Then parts of the structure proved unsatisfactory and work on the stands was stopped. Delay in completion of it will prevent the carrying out of the well laid plans.

X-RAY PICTURES OF CHAMP TODAY

Expect Further Examination To Disclose Whether Ring Work Stops

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Jack Dempsey, world champion heavy-weight boxer, will undergo an X-ray examination today to determine the extent of injuries suffered in an automobile crash Sunday night near San Juan Capistrano, Cal. His known injuries are a badly wrenched back, a dislocated right elbow, sprained ligaments and severe cuts and bruises.

The examination today is expected to disclose whether the fighter sustained injuries which will prevent him from doing ring work for any long period.

Johnston Leaves for Eastern Tournaments

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—In quest of new tennis laurels, "Little Bill" Johnston left today for the east, and his friends hope he will return with the national tennis crown, now worn by "Big Bill" Tilden. Seabright and Newport will be the first tournaments in which Johnston will play, followed by Longwood Cricket club, Boston, and then the national singles at Forest Hill, N. Y. Johnston recently had his tonsils removed and, according to his friends, is now in greatly improved physical condition.

Find Way to Kill Foe of Watermelon, Squash

URBANA, Ill., June 22.—A dust that is sure death to the black-and-yellow-striped cucumber beetle, the pest that annually plays havoc with cucumbers, squashes and melons, has been developed by the entomologists of the State Natural History Survey and the University of Illinois. The dust, composed of one part calcium arsenate and twenty parts gypsum, has proved superior to many other poisons and sprays in five years of tests and experiments. The material is simply dusted over the young plants to be protected, and the beetles eat and die.

Florida Has Big Crop Of Melons This Year

GRACEVILLE, Fla., July 22.—The best watermelon crop ever grown in this section will be produced this season, according to indications reaching Graceville from farmers. The greater part of the crop this year will be shipped to Eastern and Northern markets, according to present indications.

World's Fish Crop Is Worth Billions Yearly

NEW YORK, July 22.—The fish crop of the world approximates a billion dollars a year in its cost to the "final consumer." Estimates of the value of the fish "landed" in the principal countries of the world are supplied by the United States fish commission to the Trade Record of the National City Bank, New York. The world's total at the latest available date is approximately $780,000,000 per annum, and if we add to this, says the Trade Record, an estimate of 25 per cent for the cost of cold storage, transportation and the profits of the wholesalers and retailers, it is apparent that the world's fish bill approximates a billion dollars a year.

Peru's postage stamps are printed in the United States, an order for 15,000,000 being placed recently.

The new bridge to connect Montreal, Can., with the mainland, will require about 1,100 tons of steel.

KID SULLIVAN AT TOP AFTER FIGHT

Junior Lightweight Champ Had Tough Row to Hoe In Early Days

NEW YORK, July 22.—Kid Sullivan, the newly-crowned world's junior lightweight champion, like every other title holder, had his ups and downs before reaching the goal of every pugilist, the championship. He has been boxing professionally eight years and was never really recognized by anyone as a real contender for championship honors, although he has always been a very satisfactory performer. He has never turned down a chance to meet any of the men of his weight, having fought the leaders in the junior lightweight and the lightweight classes.

Paddy Roach, who has piloted Sullivan to the front, is now anxious to sign his protégé with Dundee for a match for the featherweight title and states that he will post $5000 to bind the match. Paddy goes as far as to state that he will even let that money go as a side bet that Sullivan can also deprive Johnny of his other title.

He is Italian

Sullivan was born in the Gowanus section of Brooklyn twenty-seven years ago and like Dundee, is of Italian parentage. He was christened Steve Tricamo. He still resides in Brooklyn, is married to an Irish girl, and is the father of a three-year-old daughter.

His first attempts at boxing were made at St. Paul's and St. Stephen's gymnasiums in Brooklyn. Later he entered the amateur ranks, where he made rapid headway in the 116 and 126-pound classes, winning several titles. Sullivan did not take boxing seriously until after the world war, during which he served in the United States navy.

Since boxing professionally he has fought all over the country. One of his hardest and longest battles was with Red Nolan, whom he fought twenty rounds at New Orleans for the sum of $61.

JOE SIMONICH TO MEET DAVE SHADE

Feature Bout at Vernon to Be Filled With Plenty Of Action Tonight

Joe Simonich, of Butte, will have a chance to make the fight promoters in the east look him over when they talk about opponents for the winner of the Leonard-Walker scrap, in case he realizes his heart's biggest ambition tonight and shows up Dave Shade in their bout at Vernon. Joe has an idea that he can do just that thing, and thinks he is better than Bert Colima, who got a shade over Shade, as it were, last week.

Billy Mascott and Danny Martin, a couple of 118-pounders, will do their stuff in the semi-windup. Walter Rooney and Jimmy Lanning will hold down the special spot at 135 pounds. Other bouts on the card arranged by Matchmaker Wadhams are: Mike De Pinta and Ruby Lavine, 126 pounds; Hank Gatten and Jimmy Banks, 158 pounds; Toby Montoya and Billy Ryan, 118 pounds; Jack Colburn and Ted Burch, 126 pounds.

Best Women's Hats Are Made for Bobbed Hair

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 22.—Women with long hair will be out of luck, if the word of local milliners can be taken as a gauge.

"Present-day hats are made for the bobbed-haired women, one learning a milliner that 'women who still cling to long hair will find it difficult to purchase hats large enough for them, as the most chic hats are now made for women who have cut their locks. Only a few hats for women are now made in large sizes, and selections are to be found in the smaller-crowned bonnets."

Canada Planning to Protect Her Forests

OTTAWA, Ont., July 22.—With "Save the Forests" as their slogan, school children throughout Canada are being organized to protect the Dominion's timber resources. Schools and other educational institutions are being provided with pamphlets on forest-fire prevention by the federal department of the interior.

Cab Driver Awarded Part of Monte Carlo

DUBLIN, July 22.—William Brown, for fifty-two years a Dublin horse-cab driver, has become entitled to a fortune of half a million dollars of real estate, said to include a portion of Monte Carlo, as the result of a chancery court judgment in his favor.

QUICK LUNCH IS PERIL TO LIFE

Habit of Bolting Food at Counters Dangerous, Declare Doctors

DENVER, July 22.—It's not flapper fads, but the present-day habit of girls perching themselves upon lunch-counter stools and hurriedly plying themselves with food from cabinet, fountain and paraffine paper wrappings that will endanger the health of future generations, according to Denver doctors, who deplore the practice of girls eating their mid-day repast in frenzied haste.

It's the lunch counter that certain scientists believe is bound to rise to 75. The danger to the health of the girl who climbs up and eats, but also of the children that may be born to her in the future, when she decides to quit "careerism" and selects a husband and home.

Mrs. Bessie Haskins, nurse-in-chief at the Denver General Hospital, declared that a stringent selection of food at counters is responsible for a large amount of sickness among women, including stomach ulcers.

Purchasing Power of Farmers Small, Claim

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—The purchasing power of farm products apparently has reached the low point; there is a stronger tone in several markets now.

This is the conclusion of rural economists at the Ohio State University, after a study of price index numbers for April.

The farmer's ability to buy commodities was down to 77 for March; i. e., a dollar's worth of farm products would return the farmer only 77 cents in manufactured goods. In April it had risen to 78. Last year his purchasing power averaged 82.

"An upward trend in the index number of practically all livestock products during the first four months of 1924," E. J. Utz, Ohio state economist, said, "indicates that we are approaching a normal production basis and that better opportunities are in store for the farmer."

Musical Ambassadors Set Sail for Europe

NEW YORK, July 22.—A group of "musical ambassadors" have sailed for Naples, in charge of Pietro Yon, honorary organizer of the Vatican. The small group of American musicians and composers are off on a real diplomatic mission, with recognition from Washington, according to Mr. Yon.

"We will be musical ambassadors," Mr. Yon said, "authorized by the Department of State, in Washington, to promote friendship and respect for American talent in Italian and French music circles. Our tour, as originally planned, was to provide a master course of study in organ playing and composition. But this purpose has since acquired a new importance."

Part-Time Students Earn While Learning

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 22.—Forty thousand children attended continuation schools last year in Pennsylvania and at the same time contributed a total of $12,000,000 toward the support of their families while rounding out an education that had been interrupted because of the necessity of seeking work.

More children were enrolled in the Pennsylvania part-time schools than in similar schools in most of the other states in the country, while the per capita cost for teachers' salaries was less than half the average paid by other states for this function, according to Prof. L. H. Dennis, director of vocational education.

Athletics Are Help To Beauty, Is Claim

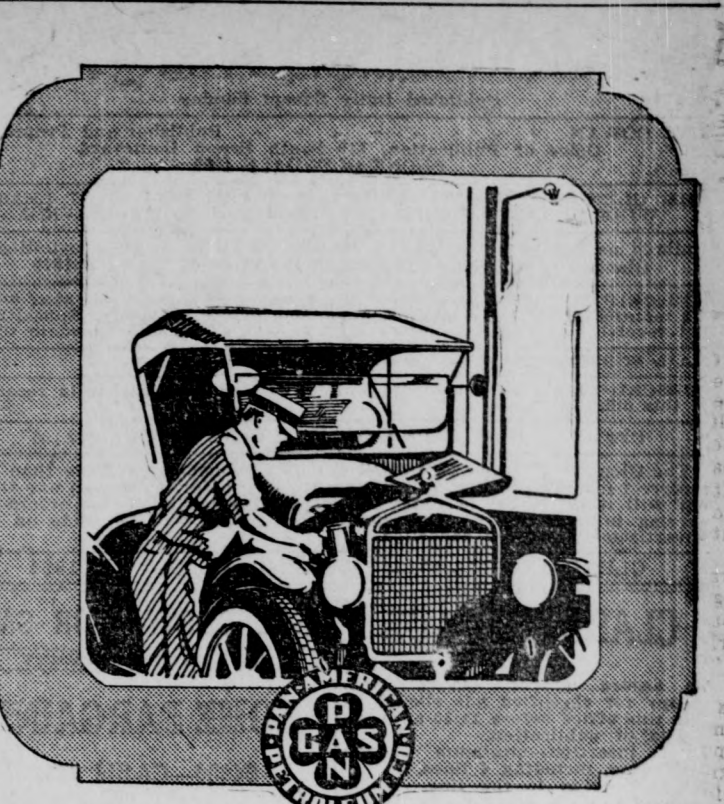

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 22.—Professor Carl Tracey Hawley, head of the department of drawing of Syracuse University, brands as utterly ridiculous the charges of Alfred Page, London, artist, that the beautifully formed women of today cannot and must not participate in sports or athletics.

"In my opinion present-day athletics do more for improving the figure of women than any amount of dieting, reducing or fat-building. It stands to reason that some of the intricate poses, so much in demand today, would be impossible unless the model were in the fittest physical trim," said Professor Hawley.

Member of Cabinet To Study Immigration

LONDON, July 22.—Miss Margaret Bondfield, the first woman to hold a cabinet position in the British Government, is going to Canada soon. It has been announced that Miss Bondfield, who is Parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Labor, will head a delegation which the British Government is sending to Canada to study emigration problems, particularly with regard to the placing of children in that dominion.

Posse Combing Woods
For Suspected Killer

UNION, S. C., July 22.—An armed posse led by department of justice agents, members of the sheriff's office and local police, is scouring the woods one mile south of the Excelsior Mills for Frank Harrill, alleged accomplice with Mortimer H. King in the slaying of Major Samuel McLeary, following the arrest today of Larry Johnson, 17, a mill worker, while taking a bag containing food to Harrill.

HIRES HALL FOR
DUNCAN HEARINGCicero Justice Disappointed
When Actors' Attorney
Asks Continuance

EVANSTON, Ill., July 22.—With one of those peculiar hissing sounds which rend the atmosphere just before a tire is nice and flat, the celebrated case of the Duncan sisters versus the Cicero police department became just that—flat and rapid—this afternoon when Mary a Duncan appeared in Justice of the Peace Williams' court here to further subdue the Cicero officers.

The squire, mindful of the huge crowd which greeted the appearance of the sisters and their "victims" a week ago, and also mindful of the stage fame of his illustrious litigants, had hired a theatre for the day's hearing.

Charles Rathburn, attorney for the sisters, advised them to remain away.

Wanted to Give Show
"We want an indictment, not a vaudeville performance," he said. "We are not responsible for the engagement of the theatre. And anyhow it is necessary that we ask a week's continuance because of the absence of the state's attorney's representative, who is busy with the Leopold-Loeb proceedings."

The magistrate was plainly shocked at the how-do-you-do given his arrangements.

"My word," he commented, "I continued the case until July 29.

CORONER PROBES
TWO FATALITIESAccidental Death Verdicts
In Ely and Strickland
Inquest by Jury

The coroner's jury that was summoned to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Walter Ely, 21, of 122 West Acacia street, Glendale, who was killed when the automobile in which he was riding turned over on the Ventura boulevard near Lankershim Sunday morning, returned a verdict that the deceased had come to his death through an automobile accident due to the car skidding, and that no blame attached to anyone. The inquest was held at the L. G. Scovern undertaking parlors by Deputy Coroner G. L. Green.

A verdict of unavoidable accident was returned in the inquest into the death of Grant Strickland of Burbank, who died Sunday morning as the result of injuries received when he was struck Saturday night by a car driven by T. F. Kerker of Burbank as he was crossing the San Fernando road at the Ranch Market. Mr. Kerker was absolved from all blame in connection with the accident. Deputy Coroner Green also conducted this inquest at the Kiefer & Eyerick undertaking parlors.

The city engineering department, where Walter Ely was employed, closed today at noon to permit the members of the staff to attend the funeral exercises that were held in Forest Lawn Memorial park at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Lyons Improving, Is
Report From Hospital

Reports from St. Vincent's hospital, Los Angeles, where Thomas F. Lyons, 665 North Central avenue, Glendale, was taken following the capsizing of his car on the Ventura boulevard near Lankershim on Sunday morning, state that his condition is showing a marked improvement today and that the fears of his medical attendants have been materially allayed. He is not yet out of danger, however, but his improvement has greatly encouraged those who are watching the case.

DeValera to Continue
Fight for Republic

DUBLIN, July 22.—Eamonn de Valera's fight for an Irish republic "will be continued vigorously—but constitutionally."

The Irish republican leader, just out of a Free State jail, made this announcement of his future course in the first public address since his arrest several months ago.

"I reject the oath of allegiance, but I will stand for the constitution," de Valera declared. "The rebels of Ireland are those who stand against the republic."

when informed, "I hired this theatre because it seats a thousand people and would give spectators—lots of them—a fine opportunity to see how justice is dispensed."

And so saying, the squire continued the case until July 29.

BRAZIL'S REVOLT
NEAR COLLAPSERebel and Federal Troops
Fraternize on Battle
Front, Is Claim

By DANIEL CAREY
For International News Service.
ON BOARD THE PANAMA (en route to Rio De Janeiro), July 22.—The Brazilian revolution's days are numbered, and the movement, purely military, is breaking down so rapidly the soldiers and officers of the rival forces are fraternizing on the so-called battle lines. Reports of big battles at Sao Paulo are false.

Rebel airplanes, however, flew over Santos yesterday, dropping pamphlets and circulars agitating their cause. Some of these fell on the decks of a Brazilian warship in the harbor. The president of Sao Paulo state, who fled in the early days of the revolt, has taken refuge on this warship, the Minas Geraes.

Wear Same Uniforms
He escaped from the city in disguise after the rebel coup the morning of July 5 and proceeded to Santos, where the Minas Geraes, the only large ship of the navy, was then at anchor.

The rebels and federal forces are unable to distinguish each other, as all wear identical uniforms. While the revolt is merely a military movement it looks more serious, due to the fact that a great portion of the population wear military uniforms.

Learned today of the dramatic incidents that marked the opening of the revolution. The American colony at Sao Paulo gave a ball the night of July 4 at the Hotel Esplanada, which was attended by all the high military officers and civilian officials.

Capture General

The dancing continued into the morning. At 3 o'clock the morning of the 5th, while the dancing was in full swing, word was brought to General Noronha that an important message for him awaited delivery on the hotel piazza.

As he stepped from the door to the spot where he had been directed, a ring of bayoneted guns surrounded him. He surrendered without a struggle and was taken to jail.

Brazilian Federals
Shell Rebels, Report

LONDON, July 22.—Conflicting reports came via radio today concerning the Brazilian revolt. A message picked up from the steamship Pan-America and relayed to London, said the federals were bombarding Sao Paulo and that the inhabitants were fleeing toward the seaport town of Santos.

The message added that this report conflicted with others the Pan-America had picked up, one of which was that dissatisfaction among the people was spreading and the rebels had strengthened their forces and were advancing in the direction of Rio De Janeiro, the capital of the republic.

Johnson Will Define
Stand on Candidates

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson indicated upon his arrival here today from Washington that he would issue a statement in the near future outlining his stand on national issues.

"I have not made a statement on the La Follette campaign or indicated in any way that I either approve or disapprove of his candidacy," the senator declared during a short stay here. He added that reports in the east that he had promised La Follette his support were untrue. The senator is en route to his home in San Francisco from Washington.

TOLOSA, Spain, July 22.—Twelve persons were injured here today in the derailment of the South Express. The dining car rolled down an embankment.

HUNT FOR RADICALS

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Department of Justice officials here today were reported to be investigating alleged activities by radicals at Los Angeles harbor. Radical and red literature are being brought here on German boats, it is alleged.

Chinese coolies buy two or three American cigarettes at a time, and the dealers make an additional profit on the tin-foil from each package by selling it back to the manufacturers.

EXPERT TALKS ON
SELLING TACTICSInefficient Salesmen Lose
More Trade Than They Secure, Is Claim

Records show the amount of business lost each year through poor salesmanship is greater than the amount of merchandise sold. M. E. Applebaum of the La Salle Extension University of Chicago told members of the Glendale Exchange club today noon in an address on salesmanship, delivered at the regular meeting held at the Harriet Mae Tea room.

Successful salesmanship, he said, was knowing the customer's wants, making positive sales talks and looking after the welfare of the customer even after the sale is made. Eighty-five per cent of the salesmen in the United States are unable to make a sale properly, he said, and their sales tactics result in dissatisfaction and disagreement among customers, which hinders growth of business.

Plan Fishing Trip
Nineteen members of the Glendale Exchange club will leave the Santa Monica pier at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning on an ocean fishing trip, it was announced at the meeting. The members making the trip will assemble at Brand and Broadway at 6 o'clock Sunday morning and drive to Santa Monica and there board a special boat chartered for the occasion. Arrangements for the trip were made by Dr. W. E. Appleton.

J. C. May announced a meeting of the forest fire protective units at the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. President R. E. Johnston presided.

For the privilege of dispensing fruit, candy and soft drinks, and tobacco, at two small stands at the Battery landing on the harbor front, the proprietors pay the city of New York $30,000 a year.

Democratic Nominee
Plans Tariff Fight

continue to berate "protection" because of this fact.

Further Than Platform
McDavis is expected to go further in the exposition of his tariff ideas than the party platform. He will also express himself more directly on the subject. The platform contains the competitive declaration but buries it under a grand denunciation of the Fordney-McCumber act which is scoured as "the most unjust, unscientific and dishonest tariff tax measure ever enacted in our history."

The Democrats further assailed the act as "class legislation, which defrauds all the people for the benefit of the few," as "heavily increasing the cost of living," as "penalizing agriculture, corrupting government, fostering paternalism, and in the long run failing to benefit the 'very interests' for which it was enacted."

No tariff act ever received such overwhelming denunciation as the platform makers of Madison Square hurled at the Fordney-McCumber law.

The Democratic position, stated in a few words, at the end of a long diatribe against Republicanism, probably has been overlooked by the country. It reads as follows:

"We declare our party's position to be in favor of a tax on commodities entering the customs houses that will promote effective competition, protect against monopoly and at the same time produce a fair revenue for the support of the government."

Big Issue In Fight

The tariff question is likely to bulk larger in the coming campaign than most persons supposed. It will do this because it has been linked by the Democrats with the entire subject of taxation and will be so treated by both parties. And, while as stated, the two parties have come closer together on tariff principles, the manner of applying these principles affords much room for discussion and diversion of views.

DUNLAP ARRIVES
TO STAND TRIALBadge Bandit's Accusers to Identify Prisoner In Court Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Harry J. Dunlap, notorious "badge bandit," was brought into Los Angeles under heavy guard today to stand trial on charges that he committed numerous atrocious crimes against Southern California men and women. He was arrested in Detroit after a nationwide man hunt.

Tomorrow, prior to his arraignment, Dunlap will be faced by nearly two score of his accusers, men and women who have identified pictures of the bandit and declared he was the man who robbed them and attacked some of the women victims.

Will Face Victim
One of the accusers who will face Dunlap in the dramatic array will be Miss Ethel Dodd, who charged that Dunlap shot and killed her fiancé, William Jacobson, near Pasadena, when Jacobson attempted to prevent the desperado from attacking her.

District Attorney Henderson of Sacramento will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow to co-operate with District Attorney Asa Keyes here in preparing the case against Dunlap. Keyes announced. Dunlap is charged by the Sacramento officers with the murder of Harry Brown, Sacramento attorney, on a lonely road near the capital city.

The Democrats are going to claim that the farmers have been discriminated against for the benefit of the wealthy manufacturers and will raise the old cry that the Republicans never have gotten over the old idea of a "New England tariff."

Persons close to Mr. Davis say that his speech of acceptance will make the tariff issue clearer than it has ever been before.

Women Delegates to
Legion's Meet Chosen

Mesdames James McBryde, C. W. Schwitters and Nellie Snow Hyer are to be delegates from the Women's Auxiliary of the Glendale American Legion post to the state convention the first week in August at Santa Cruz. Alternates are Mesdames George Kaeding, E. W. Hayward, Mary McArthur. Announcement of their appointment was made at the auxiliary meeting last night with Mrs. Church at 521 West Stocker street. Splendid reports on hospitalization were given during the meeting.

Dog Fight Case Goes
Into Polyglot Court

EVANSTON, Ill., July 22.—A mixed court tried the first case of violation of the Evanston dog-muzzling ordinance.

An English bulldog, owned by a Swede, attacked a Chinese chow owned by a German. A police officer (originally from Luxembourg) made the arrest, and an Irish attorney prosecuted the case before an Austrian-born justice of the peace. The defendant was fined five American dollars when it was estimated that the bulldog was not muzzled. A Pennsylvania Dutch reporter chronicled proceedings.

Gen. McArthur Named
To Try Rebel Scouts

MANILA, P. I., July 22.—General McArthur today was named as the head of the court-martial which will try the mutinous scouts.

SEEK BOMB HURLERS

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Police here today were seeking two men charged with hurling a bomb at the Hollywood residence of B. C. Donnelly, president of an engineering company. The explosion broke windows and damaged the porch of the residence.
